Township reviews plan commission idea

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

Antioch Township trustees have a little summer reading to do.

Trustee Claudette Skvarce obtained copies of the bylaws for the plan commission in Lake Villa Township.

Since the annual Town Meeting, trustees have been battling over whether to incorporate a plan commission to oversee growth-related issues in the unincorporated areas of the township. Residents urged for creation of a plan commission during the town meeting last spring.

Just like a village plan commission, Skvarce said a township plan commission is one way to give township residents a greater voice in issues that affect their particular township.

Currently, the county board votes on development issues in the township. Out of a 23-member County Board, only Judy Martini represents the interests of Antioch Township directly.

Skvarce contends that County Board members from other townships can override the interests of Antioch by a simple majority vote.

"The people of Lake Forest, Deerfield, Lake Zurich, and Wauconda don't live here," Skvarce said.

In general, a plan commission has the authority to hold a public hearing to gather citizen and expert input on development. See IDEA page A9

Taste is big success

A wholesome, good time was had by a record number of people during this year's Taste of Antioch and Maxwell Street Days, organizers said.

Officials are estimating a conservative 35,000 to 38,000 people tried various types of foods from Antioch's finest restaurants, shopped for bargains at the sidewalk sales on Main Street, enjoyed carnival rides and listened to live bands during the four-day gala.

"It was the most successful Taste we've ever had," said Claude LeMere, director of community development.

"And we had no problems," emphasized LeMere, referring to See SUCCESS page A10

Lake Villa moving in on Loon Lake area

ALEC JUNGE

Staff Reporter

Lake Villa Plan Commission recommended annexation and the concept plan for a subdivision north of Grass Lake Road against the objections of Loon Lake officials and a County Board representative.

The proposed subdivision has 40 acres in Lake Villa township and 20 acres in Antioch Township. The plan calls for 122 units on the 60-acre parcel. County Board Member Judy Martini thinks this subdivision will only make things worse for Loon Lake residents and their request for sewers and to preserve water quality of the lake.

"When will it end?" Martini questioned about development. She also was concerned the landowner of a 160-acre parcel to the north of this property is also interested in having that parcel annexed to the village.

"I'm highly opposed to this. With Painted Lakes we could have over 1,000 units in a one-quarter mile area," Martini said.

She was referring to the Painted Lakes subdivision which will have 675 single-family and multi-family units on the south side of Grass Lake Road and west of Deep Lake Road along with two possible subdivisions.

Also concerning her and Loon Lake residents is whether they will ever get sewer to their properties. She stressed existing residents should be given the option of hooking onto sewer.

"The unincorporated residents have a greater need because they have waterfront property and their septic systems are failing," Martini said.

Bill Smolarchuk, Plan Commission chairman, stressed the village board didn't express any concerns with the subdivision when it was first proposed. Many of the new or current subdivisions are proposed at Single Family Residential-2 (SR2) which is what the developer Rick See VOTE page A10

Officials watchful of deadly moth

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

State agriculture officials will be checking area traps for any sign of the notorious and destructive Gypsy moth.

Approximately 12 acres of woodlands near Bluff Lake in unincorporated Antioch Township were infested by the gypsy moth which destroys millions of acres of trees a year.

The moth, while in its larvae or caterpillar form, defoliates hardwood trees by feeding on the leaves. Over time, the feeding can kill the tree.

In mid-June, officials from the Illinois Department of Agriculture sprayed the infested areas around Bluff Lake as well as some areas in Lake Villa and Grant townships. The spray was a biological insecticide deemed harmless to human beings.

Now, state officials are on a moth watch over the next couple of weeks. Moth traps have been installed in various areas throughout northern Illinois.

"No moths have been caught yet, but it may be a little too early to know exactly if they're gone," noted Stan Smith, a field manager with the department of agriculture.

Smith said the end of July through mid August is a critical period because that's when male moths seek to mate with female moths which then lay large quantities of eggs.

"Hopefully, the moths are gone," said Smith, suggesting that the spray should have eradicated them. "If there are moths out there, we should begin to notice them in August."

At the same time, officials are worried about summer vacationers who visit other areas of the country that are heavily infested with the gypsy moth. A number of counties near Green Bay, Wis., including popular Door County, have been infested. The State of Wisconsin sprayed about 50,000 acres last year around Door County.

A large portion of Michigan, especially along the Lake Michigan lakeshore, also is infested by the tree-killing moth.

"Our biggest concern is vacationers going up to Michigan and the counties around Green Bay and bring back eggs," Smith said.

The female moths lay their eggs just about anywhere outdoors including trailers, cars, and camping equipment. Stan described the egg masses as tan in color about the size of a thumb.

"Anything outdoors is susceptible," Smith said. "People can look for them and scrape them off and destroy them."

Smith is optimistic, however, that the spraying done in Antioch, Lake Villa and Grant townships was successful in eradicating the moth populations in infested areas.

"The spray has been working well for the last 10 years," Smith said. "Our biggest fear is people bringing them back."

Buoys may be discussed at Agency

TINA L. SWIECH
Staff Reporter

Water skiers and jet boaters are among some of the recreationers to make use of the Chain O' Lakes.

While the Fox Waterway Agency said they have no topic like it on their agenda for the July 25 meeting, there's talk some may attend in regards to a clash amongst skiers and jet boaters, particularly in the Stanton Bay area.

At the last board meeting, the Agency agreed not to put buoys back in the bay. At one time the floating devices were there marking no wake areas. With the current 150-foot no wake enforced over lakeshores and side channels on the Chain O' Lakes, having the buoys would be redundant, say officials.

Ron Baker, Agency director, says he is concerned about allowing only special groups to use a certain area. "I don't want to get into zoning. That would be very restrictive," he explained.

Baker said zoning restrictions could hurt lake businesses.

The meeting will be held at Grant Community High School in Fox Lake at 7:30 p.m. July 25.

Leaders still seek answers to growth

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

A consortium of educational, school and business leaders now has a name and is narrowing its focus as leaders attempt to find a regional solution for Antioch High School and its feeder elementary districts.

The group is now called the Northwest Lake County Educational Planning Group. The group is comprised of Antioch Community High School, all the elementary districts which send students to the high school, Antioch, Lake Villa and Lindenhurst trustees and Antioch and Lindenhurst/Lake Villa Chambers of Commerce.

"We have narrowed our focus to a few issues," said Alan Simon, superintendent of Lake Villa Elementary District. "Among them are growth and housing of students."

The planning group has met since the beginning of the last school year. The group is seeking to find a single, comprehensive school solution for the Antioch, Lake Villa and Lindenhurst areas.

Almost every one of the districts is facing overcrowding in their schools at this time or in the near future.

Part of the impetus for the group was the failure of the Lake Villa unit school plan two years ago. Educators began meeting informally to work towards a solution that would benefit them all.

Community leaders became involved, and soon, the group was meeting about once every month.

At this time, each of the entities in the group is expected to endorse a resolution stating they are members of the group and will work toward a school solution.

So far, Antioch High School, Lake Villa Elementary, and Millburn school boards have adopted the resolution.

A facilitator from the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service is moderating the meetings.

The next meeting will be held July 30, 7 p.m., Antioch High School.

Cheerleaders, pom pons recognized as athletes

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

Chalk up a win for the cheerleaders and pom pons girls.

Antioch Community High School juniors and seniors participating in varsity cheerleading and pom pons will no longer be required to take physical education classes.

Like other student athletes who participate in varsity sports, the cheerleaders and pom pons girls can be exempt from physical education because the state now recognizes them as bona fide athletes.

The general thinking is that athletes do not need the extra physical activities in gym class because they practice everyday in sports. Similarly, the student athletes could use the extra time for study or homework since they are practicing or playing games after school.

Likewise, cheerleaders and pom pons have long argued they practice just as much as the athletes, and they wanted to enjoy the same benefits as did the athletes.

"I think they had a legitimate concern. It was a matter of the state finally recognizing them as athletes," noted Athletic Director Jim Kafer, who supported the cheerleaders' cause.

The high school board of education fully endorsed the waiver after the state board of education did so.

"While many schools, including Antioch, recognized cheerleading and pom pons as a sport, the state board of education did not, so they could not be waived from P.E.," Kafer said.

The state board of education has grown more liberal over the last two years. Last year, the state board allowed junior and seniors who participate in marching band to be exempt from gym class as well.

Cheerleading and pom pons were the natural progression. Kafer said he does not expect any more waivers from the state board for other organizations any time soon.

"The athletic department fully recognized them as athletes," Kafer said. "The state finally caught up with the reality involved in being a cheerleader."

The waiver would affect about 15 junior and senior girls involved in varsity cheerleading for football and basketball. It could also affect about half the members of the pom pons squad which generally numbers around 20 girls.

"There's a lot of time and physical effort put into cheerleading," Kafer said. "I'm glad for them."

All American Travel Corner names vacation winners

Not only was the Taste of Antioch its most successful in history, but a number of people left with various vacation prizes.

Prizes were awarded compliments of Chuck Cermak and Sue Ryan of All American Travel Corner in Antioch.

The best-dressed Country Western couple was Brandy Woodall of Twin Lakes, Wis., and Gabel Venegas, of Trevor, Wis. They won two round-trip tickets on American Trans Air to anywhere in the United States.

Teri Siepl of Antioch won a two-night, three-day trip for two to Sam's Town Resort and Casino in Las Vegas.

Sonja Purvin of Ingleside and Herman Bauchinger of Chicago won $50 Apple Vacations gift certificates.

Jim Meyer of Antioch and Anthony Coronado of Round Lake Heights won two $50 gift certificates for Sandals Resorts.

During the "Grease Band" performance, the agency also handed out 18 Renaissance Fair tickets as part of a Rock 'N' Roll trivia contest.

District 41 seeks new school site

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

Lake Villa Elementary school board is including land acquisition and life safety repairs as it prepares for adopting the budget in August.

The board is looking at future school sites. The board is yet to decide on a dollar amount or a particular parcel, according to Dr. Alan Simon, superintendent.

"We need to have at least 10 to 11 acres," Simon said. "We are looking at between 10-30 acres depending on the grade levels."

Simon said the board is looking at possible sites throughout the district, but hasn't narrowed down any favorite locations.

A county study indicated the district could have 3,000 students by the year 2000.

The had originally had a deal with Gottlieb development for a school site near the intersection of Fairfield and Monaville roads. However, the developer sold the land to the Lake County Forest Preserve and the Village of Lake Villa and the district has lost the claim to the school site.

The school repairs are comprised of a recommendation by a consultant after he reviewed the three school buildings.

Included in the work are big ticket items such as boiler and roof repairs. The repairs are scheduled to make the district's buildings in compliance with state standards for school buildings.

The board also will spend about $175,000 on textbooks, up from $60,000 last year. The board promised to upgrade books as part of a March education fund referendum.

The board will set a hearing date for the budget at the next board meeting July 24.

Oakland receives thanks for jumping rope

Oakland School students learned that jumping rope has its benefits in more ways than one.

Earlier this year, more than 200 students, primarily second and third graders, participated in the "Jump Rope for Heart" program sponsored by the American Heart Association.

Through their efforts, students raised more than $1,770 to support the life-saving mission of the American Heart Association.

The funds from this event will help support 65 research projects totaling over $2.2 million at Chicago area hospitals and universities.

David Johnson, physical education teacher, spearheaded the first-time event at Oakland. The Heart Association has sponsored similar events in schools for 18 years.

In a letter to Oakland Principal James Lienhardt, Dr. William Ashley, president of the American Heart Association, extended his "heartfelt thanks and appreciation" to the school.

Ashley said, "Jump Rope for Heart has become a major force in continuing the battle against heart disease and stroke."

Jump Rope for Heart is a program designed to teach students about the benefits of regular exercise while promoting teamwork and building school spirit. The event aims to promote healthy lifestyles including proper nutrition, exercise, not smoking and controlling high blood pressure.—by KEVIN HANRAHAN

TOOTH BLEACHING

A tooth with a damaged pulp may become discolored, usually from iron in the blood that has leaked. It usually occurs from trauma to the tooth, and it may be the first sign that the pulp has been damaged. The discoloration problem may usually be solved by internal bleaching the crown.

It is important to note that all discolored teeth are not "dead." Sometimes the pulp may recover completely after some trauma and leave a healthy and yet discolored tooth. When pulp therapy is completed your dentist introduces a bleaching solution internally in the tooth. More than one visit may be necessary and between visits a milder bleach is sealed in the tooth. When a satisfactory degree of lightening has been achieved, a tooth colored filling will be inserted to seal the chamber. Although generally successful, bleaching doesn't always remove all stains. Other techniques such as jackets, bonding or veneering may then be used...

Police Beat

ANTIOCH

Police catch up with thief

Police eventually caught up with a shoplifter July 18. Police arrested Jennifer Prinly, 34, of Antioch, for three counts of retail theft. She was first observed at JJ Blinks exiting the store without paying for merchandise. Prinly was later identified walking on Main Street. She admitted to police taking a wolf pewter pin ($14.95) and a wolf pewter bracelet ($14.95) from JJ Blinks. She also admitted to taking a sterling necklace ($15) from Dolly's Second Showing on Lake St. Prinly will appear in Grayslake court Aug. 28.

Woman too impaired for test

On July 17, police arrested Patricia Redfern, 31, of Antioch, for improper lane usage and driving under the influence. While on patrol, police observed Redfern cross the center line "4-5 times" and drive onto the sidewalk near 966 Main St. Police said her speech was difficult to understand and she was unable to stand by herself. Two attempts for a breath test had to be aborted. Police reported that Redfern was unable to blow into the mouthpiece and had trouble standing at the instrument and could not generate a sufficient breath for the test. She will appear in Waukegan court Aug. 6.

Intoxicated woman wanted

Police responded to Taco Bell July 16 after a report of an intoxicated woman in the restroom. Merry Durbin, 41, of Antioch, told police she was sick to her stomach. Upon further investigation, police learned she was wanted by the Lake County Sheriff's Department on a $5,000 bond for criminal trespassing. While being held in an Antioch holding cell, Durbin fell to the floor complaining of stomach sickness. Antioch Rescue Squad transported her to St. Therese Medical Center in Waukegan, where Lake County Sheriff officers later processed her.

Driver runs off road

On July 20, police arrested John Ring, 48, of Antioch, for improper lane speeding usage and driving under the influence. Police first observed erratic driving on Tiffany Road. According to police, he crossed the centerline "5-6 times" and bumped a curb or ran off the road "4-5 times." Police also clocked him traveling 54 mph in a 45 mph zone on North Ave. Police said he staggered and fell against the car. At the police station, Ring registered a .19 blood-alcohol level on a breath test. He will appear in Waukegan court Aug. 20.

Suspects nabbed in shooting

ALEC JUNGE

Staff Reporter

While a Round Lake High School wrestler remains in critical condition at Lutheran General Hospital after being shot in the chest, three suspects believed responsible for the shooting are behind bars.

Amador Estrada, who earned a trip to the state wrestling tournament only months earlier, was shot while he was a passenger in a car at the intersection of Cedar Lake and Rollins Road on July 17.

"Three subjects ran up to the car and proceeded to batter Amador about the face and a shot rang out," said Commander John Laycock of Round Lake Beach police. "He was shot in the left chest and the bullet went out his back."

Quick police work enabled police to nab the suspects within 48 hours.

First, Round Lake Beach police developed leads and arrested James T. Sydenstricker, 17, 930 Lakeshore Drive, Round Lake Beach, the evening of the shooting.

Two days later, alert police work by Fox Lake police eventually lead to the arrest of the other two suspects. Lt. Edward Garretsen, saw the vehicle with the two remaining suspects at an apartment building at the intersection of Lippencott Lane and Hellos Court.

The suspect took off the front license plate and backed the rear of the car toward the building hoping to avoid detection, according to Laycock.

Fox Lake and Round Lake Beach police arranged a stakeout where they arrested Matt H. Jones, 17, 1845 Cedar Lake Road, Round Lake Beach, as he attempted to leave in his vehicle.

Police found the third suspect, Josh. C. Short, 17, 312 Forest, Round Lake, hiding in a closet at the apartment complex.

"Without the help of Fox Lake police we wouldn't have done it in such a timely fashion," Laycock said.

Laycock also cited the work of the Round Lake Beach detectives for developing information within hours of the shooting.

All three suspects remain in Lake County Jail; each on a $500,000 bond. They were all charged with armed violence, aggravated assault, and mob action.

Laycock said additional charges are pending review by the Lake County State's Attorney's office.

Estrada was flown by Flight for Life Helicopter from Centegra Hospital in McHenry and later to Lutheran General.

Laycock admitted some of the suspects were known gang members but didn't identify which ones. He does not consider this a gang-related shooting.

FOOT STRAIN

Foot strain may be felt as vague discomfort in the top of the foot after walking a short distance. In many cases the foot has been somewhat stiff before, perhaps as a result of a minor accident. Often, the foot has been "wrenched" or a person has been confined to bed for a fairly long period, or a plaster cast has been put on the foot without enough padding to allow the foot to spread out naturally.

To ease the discomfort, your podiatrist will generally employ passive movement of all the joints of the foot. This is usually allowed by a program of vigorous active and assisted foot exercises.

In resistant cases, where the foot remains stiff despite these passive and active exercises, the foot may have to be manipulated after an anesthetic is given, and the patient may have to use a plastizote insole in the shoe.

Life must forge ahead despite tragedy —People News

The loss of a loved one is so extremely hard to cope with and when that someone is a child, it is that much harder to bear. It goes against the natural process of life when a parent buries a child. Children are supposed to grow up, have children of their own and then in later years, tend to the needs of their aging parents.

JINGLE FROM PRINGLE

LYNN

But life isn't always so kind, so predictable. Recently, as most of you know, a great tragedy struck not one, but two Antioch families when the pearly gates of heaven opened wide and allowed Chaneice Cermak and Paul Waszak to enter. Even strangers were touched by the tragic event, everyone shudders to think of such a travesty passing over their own life. Now that the public display of mourning has passed, the inner grieving will settle in.

Although there is nothing on earth any of us can do to restore the life in those two young people, we can keep their memories alive for the sake of their families and friends. No good person is ever truly forgotten.

It pains friends and family members to hear certain songs, or visit certain places; the memories haunt them, but once they are no longer consumed by grief, those songs and places will bring great comfort. Memories should not be painful, memories should be extraordinary.

Don't be angry as you look at the outside world as it continues on its uninterrupted journey, totally unaware and seemingly not to care that you life has been shaken and torn apart. You must stay focused on the reality that with each day, each hour, the emotional turmoil inside you will subside and life will continue, even though it will always be different.

Anger and regrets will tear you up; release your anger, make peace with your regrets, embrace the cherished moments. Those suffering from the physical distant this tragedy has created between themselves and these two young adults should not be so distraught. Just remember in your hearts that this separation is only temporary although it now seems like the end. The next time you meet up again with Paul and Chaneice it will be forever—and that has no end.

To help the Cermak family defray some of the expenses incurred during the recent calamity a trust fund has been set up at the First National Bank of Antioch. Anybody wishing to donate to the fund may do so by sending your contribution to the First National Bank, at 485 Lake Street, Antioch, IL 60002.

Give comfort where it is needed. Listen attentively where you hear a shaky voice. Death may seem permanent, but it is so only in this world as we know it. And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle" ...don't forget to call 395-6364.

Jaycees selling tickets for old-fashion circus

Antioch Jaycees will present an old-fashioned "Under the Big Top" one-ring animal circus at Oakland School Sept 10.

Tickets are available now for the Kelly Miller Brothers Circus.

Sponsored by the Antioch Jaycees and the Advertiser Network, show times are 4:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

The circus is one of the oldest forms of entertainment in recorded history. Before the advent of television, the circus provided a unique form of entertainment that made its coming to town a holiday.

"Our business is built on tradition," said David Rawls, co-owner and manager of the circus.

The Kelly Miller Brothers Circus features a collection of more than a dozen exciting acts, including wild cats and their trainers, aerial and acrobatic performers, clowns, elephants, and an exotic petting zoo.

Founded in 1938 by the Miller family of Hugo, Okla., it is one of the few remaining tent circuses in America. The Kelly Miller Brothers Circus gives performances in 220 cities and towns.

The circus is one of the many fund-raisers the Jaycees has each year in order to raise money for various charitable causes.

The public is also invited to a sneak preview on the circus morning. At 7:30 a.m., the animals are expected to be unloaded and the tent raised. The tents will go in the air between 8:30 and 9 a.m. Guides will be furnished for children of elementary school age.

Ticket outlets include the First National Bank of Antioch, State Bank of the Lakes, Piggly wiggly, and J.J. Blinkers. For more information, call 838-1045.—by KEVIN HANRAHAN

Antioch Junior Woman's Club keeps presence in summer

As the Antioch Junior Woman's Club celebrates its 10th anniversary year, the club has maintained a presence in the community and an outlet for women.

Although the club does not regularly meet during the summer months, it still remains active lending a hand at various events.

The Antioch Junior Woman's Club participated in the Antioch Fire Department's Pancake Breakfast. Volunteers were busy handing out stacks of pancakes in three, two-hour shifts.

During the Independence Day festivities, current members and past presidents joined together on a float that promoted the club's 10th anniversary.

Volunteers were also busy selling pop and glow-in-the-dark necklaces during Firecracker Tournaments. Proceeds benefit the club's charitable causes.

Currently, club members are gearing up for the annual Lions Club Chicken Barbecue and Antioch Rescue Squad Aug. 4. They will assist in the food line and the "treasure booth."

Anyone interested in joining the Antioch Juniors can obtain brochures on the club's activities at the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and the Village Hall.

For more information, call 395-3434 or 395-5683.

Catholic Charities makes unique, useful gift request

Remember the childhood pleasure of starting school in the fall having your very own book bag with fresh school supplies? Now anyone can help low-income children to enjoy that same experience and to feel the same as their classmates! Donate a new book bag filled with supplies for either an elementary age or young teenage student and bring it to your church by August 16.

Supply suggestions include: No. 2 pencils, washable-ink markers, crayons, three-ring binder paper, glue sticks, 6, 8 or 12 inch rulers, pocket folders with and without prongs, ball-point pens, note pads, scissors, small spiral notebooks with flip-back covers, etc. If it's been awhile—consult with a child. Contributions will be distributed to children in families participating in the Self-Sufficiency Program and other community programs of Catholic Charities of Lake County which serves people of all religious, racial and ethnic backgrounds.

Reduced fees for genealogists

Lake County Clerk Willard Helander has announced that the clerk's office now offers copies of vital records at a reduced fee of $4 for copies stamped "For Genealogical Purposes Only," instead of the usual fee of $8 for certified copies.

"Genealogists often do not need copies with certification," said Helander, "since the information contained in the record is for their research. (Genealogical copies cannot be used for identification or to establish age.) Genealogists may search the indexes of vital records prior to 1916 and our staff time is not used. They should therefore not incur the cost associated with our staff's time to search and certify a copy."

If the search of the index identifies a needed record, the County Clerk's staff is only required to retrieve and photostat the original.

Researchers occasionally wish to have photocopies of one or more pages of the old index volumes and these copies are charged for at $.50 per page.

Birth records 75 years old and older, or death records 20 years old and older, are open to the public for research purposes. Newer records are restricted under Illinois law.

Century 21 contributes to Central Baptist

Century 21 Epifanio United located at 974 Main Street, in Antioch, has become involved with Community Alternative Renewal Experience, which is one of some 40 programs that are part of Central Baptist Children's Home and Family Services. The real estate company's owners Joe and Kim Epifanio along with Kevin Hucker, owner of Ultimate Body Health and Racquet Club also located in Antioch, have teamed up with Jean Rucker, supervisor of C.A.R.E.'s residential program to help the children involved in this program.

"C.A.R.E. just began three years ago," said Rucker. "It's a residential and day treatment program, providing schooling and a therapy program for children that are in the Department of Children and Family Services. Century 21 Epifanio United has been involved in helping these children for the last three years first with the Kidcare program, which they still actively participate in and more recently with C.A.R.E."

Century 21 Epifanio United decided to get involved in helping kids, because one of their employees children had previously been kidnapped. "She got them back four years later, her husband had taken them to Honduras," added Epifanio.

Kidcare is a program that provides parents with a free service, taking children's photos and making them a picture identification card. The focus of this program is for the parents to have a recent photo of the child from the front view. On July 20 and 21, Century 21 Epifanio United will have a booth set up at the Taste of Antioch so parents in the area can utilize Kidcare.

"Century 21 Epifanio United has been doing Kidcare for the past three years, but still wanted to get more involved," stated Epifanio. "That's why we got involved with the C.A.R.E. program. We wanted to give something back to the community."

has provided the children in this program with much joy. They played Santa to 50 of them by supplying a Christmas party with gifts and had a special appearance from Santa himself. These children have also had the opportunity to play basketball, volleyball, and racquetball at the Ultimate Body Health and Racquet Club on several different occasions.

During the summer the club isn't very busy during the day so owner, Hucker, felt that the children should enjoy it and donated use of the facilities to C.A.R.E. "It's great to see them smiling, laughing and having a good time."

issues. The plan commission can make a recommendation to the township board. The township board then votes on the issue before it goes to the County Board. The County Board is then required to have a super-majority vote before it can override the vote of a township board.

"I would like the people of Antioch Township to have that voice rather than the voice of the county," said Skvarce, who lent her support behind the creation of a plan commission.

She noted that the people living within the Village of Antioch, for example, can seek redress through the actions of a plan commission and a subsequent vote of the village board. Township residents only have the redress of the County Board.

"A plan commission gives people in unincorporated Antioch Township some voice in their government," Skvarce said.

She handed out copies of the bylaws of the plan commission in Lake Villa Township to her fellow trustees and asked them to review the bylaws for further discussion by the September township board meeting.

-LETTER TO THE EDITOR-

Train station or Whirlpool box?

Editor:

The anticipated opening day of the METRA commuter is August 19. METRA'S schedule will include eight trains per weekday.

Viewing some of the nearly completed train stations along the Wisconsin Central route gave way to a feeling of victory for the Northern Lake County corridor. Bold innovative architectural designs were evident from Lake Villa's new train station.

With anticipated excitement I viewed the Antioch train station on Depot Street. As I looked for the missing train station, disbelief and obvious distress was the apparent. No train station, only an empty Whirlpool box was to be seen. This was the location that Antioch's Mayor Shineflug has selected, but no station? It is possible that the mayor has suddenly, without warning, become a visionary and built the station at Antioch Community High School where it should be.

In this way students from Lake Villa and Lindenhurst could commute to ACHS via METRA.

Mayor Shineflug is no visionary and Antioch has no train station, and if it is built on Depot Street, it's in the wrong place. With 60 percent of ACHS students being bussed north from Lake Villa and Lindenhurst, who would stand in the way of this vision, only Mayor Shineflug.

Waterway talks safety, environment

Chairman of the Fox Waterway Agency (FWA), Dr. William Dam, has sent letters to county board members from both Lake and McHenry counties, explaining his stand on safety issues.

The letter reads: "Boating safety has always been in the forefront of the minds of the Fox Waterway Board Members. It is integral to our desires that everyone have an opportunity for an enjoyable and responsible boating experience."

"Twelve years ago, the State created the FWA out of concern that the quality of the water, river and lakes was progressively deteriorating. The last project undertaken by the Illinois Department of Transportation was in 1976, and that was stopped by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers for lack of project permits. This spring, we received 81 work permits from the U.S. Army Corps. We are proud of our efforts."

Our perceived environmental consciousness has been recognized locally by the Army Corps, in that it has suggested that we assume some of its local permitting responsibilities nationally by invitations to speak at various functions.

Let there be no confusion. We are not a law enforcement agency. Ours is an environmental mission. The increased revenues the County receives from increased sales tax and property tax revenues should translate into proportionately more funding for the water patrols (an increase of 10,000 registered boaters in ten years, from 16,000 to 26,000). Property taxes along our 240 miles of lake, river and channel shoreline are skyrocketing.

The public has a right to expect a safe recreational environment for them and their families. We are asking each county board member to become aware of this problem and increase safety funding on our lakes and rivers proportionate to increased revenues and needs.

Karen Kabbes, Agency executive director and I would welcome an opportunity to address your board regarding this matter," Dam told county board members.

Success

the lack of disorderly conduct commonly found at village festivals.

"It was good family entertainment," LeMere said. "There were parents with their kids walking their dogs."

Ed Cimaglio, president of the Antioch Chamber of Commerce which sponsored and organized the event, confirmed that it was the best Taste to date as far as numbers of people and receipts so far.

"The figures we got rolling in right now are far superior to any other year than we did in the past," Cimaglio said.

The numbers were still being calculated Cimaglio indicated, but he said he was confident the final numbers will later prove his predictions.

Maxwell Street Days was also successful.

Out of the more than 26 different stores and merchants offering their goods at bargain prices, only three did not do as well as previous years.

"I talked to all the merchants, and some doubled and tripled their sales from last year," LeMere said.

Cimaglio confirmed that Maxwell Street was just as successful for most merchants.

"The majority of merchants were up a good percentage in sales," Cimaglio said.

The Taste and Maxwell Street Days overcame heavy rains Wednesday night and light showers early Thursday. Cool weather also prevailed throughout the weekend.

Cimaglio believes the format of the Taste and Maxwell Street Days coupled with intense advertising helped their success this year.

The family-oriented event caters to children with carnival rides and games, and moms with sidewalk shopping, and dads with the chance to taste different brews, and the whole family with live entertainment.

"We're still analyzing and trying to figure out a cause for the success," Cimaglio said. "Everything just went into place perfectly."

Cimaglio and LeMere said the Taste could not get much bigger at its current location, but in the future, a park being planned behind downtown could offer more room for additional restaurants.

"We can't make it any bigger," LeMere said.

He added, "Our plans are to continue the quality food, the great entertainment, and a wholesome atmosphere with the bonus of great bargains."

As a little food for thought, LeMere pointed out that the Taste of Chicago boasts 65 restaurants at Grant Park. The Taste of Antioch had 16 restaurants represented this year. Chicago, however, has a population of about 2.5 million compared to Antioch's 6,200.

"Who's Taste is bigger proportionately?" LeMere challenged.

Similarly, Antioch drew close to 40,000 people, while Vernon Hills drew roughly 70,000 during its summer festival. Yet, the Vernon Hills area draws from a population base of about 100,000.

Loon Lake Management Association presented a petition with 400 signatures opposing the subdivision.

The land wasn't in the village comprehensive plan. However, sewer is easily available from Painted Lakes and the main access road from Painted Lakes would line up with the subdivision.

The plan will next go before the village board for a vote.

Antioch tames 'Canes, falls to Cary in tourney

It took two sites, and a dramatic home run to oust Antioch from the state high school baseball playoffs.

Cary-Grove ousted Antioch 3-2 Tuesday. The Sequoits had finished a 15-2 win over Marian Central at Cary. That game was started at Antioch the day before but rains ended that effort three and one-half innings.

Chris Ramig gained the win over Marian Central. He allowed just three hits.

"He had a lot of control - that was his main thing. He walked a few, but was able to battle back," Antioch coach Paul Petty said.

The Sequoits supported the senior early and often, scoring 9 runs in the first two innings.

"The main thing he worked on was his curveball. Before, it was a little slow. He picked up more speed and more jump to it," Petty said.

Chris Groth, Pat Ewert and Stu Johnson led the offense.

'We were looking for leadership from the seniors this summer. When we had the offense this summer, we won.'

— Paul Petty,
Antioch Coach

In the second, it was Chris Groth's double and Johnson's single which produced a five-run lead. Erick Bubash executed a bunt single and Mijke Sadaro had a big 2-run single for a 9-2 lead.

Next came Cary-Grove, first round winners over Grayslake the day before in the Stevenson regional.

The Sequoits battled to a 2-2 tie in the fifth. Reggie Hughes Jr. scored the winning runs as he hit a grounder which took a bad or good hop, depending on your point of view, scoring Chris Groth and Johnson, who singled.

But a seventh-inning homer by a Cary slugger dashed any Antioch hopes of attaining a spot in Lincolnshire.

Antioch finished 10-7-1 for the summer.

"We were looking for leadership from the seniors this summer. When we had the offense this summer, we won. It was a good start. We mixed the players up with different positions," Petty said.

Pony state tourney next for Colts

A baseball team of Antioch High and Carmel High players will be vying in the AABC state Pony league competition for 14-year-olds in Homewood.

The double elimination tourney began Wednesday. The Lake Villa squad has a five-game winning streak coming into the tourney. Lake Villa compiled a 32-11 record, 18-5 in Mike's Memorial League.

The pitchers include Aaron Raftery of Carmel High, and Antioch hurlers Jason Schuker, Aaron Raftery, Mike Kral and Brady Schultz.

"Our pitching staff has had good control and keeping the ball down," Mike Groth, manager, said.

The team boasted a .338 batting average in gaining the 30 win mark this year.

"We have some powerful hitters," Groth said.

Mike Kral and Tim Clutter lead the batting order. "When those two get on, we are hard to beat," Groth said.

Headed for state

White Sox win championship

Although the weather was exceptionally chilly on Friday, July 19th at Williams Park, the White Sox were hot!

The White Sox won the championship in the Antioch Youth Baseball "AA" Boys 9-year-old division. They played the Red Sox for the title, and won by a score of 12-0. The game was called by "12 run slaughter rule" in the 4th inning when Brett Huff stepping up to bat with the bases loaded drove in the final run.

The boys played hard all season. The players are: Michael Sinkovec, Ryan White, Michael Markasovic, Vinni Thomas, Brett Huff, Sonni Rigoni, Christopher Kukla, Jeffrey Bartell, Nicky Mastrodonato and All-stars Nick Henning, Tommy Moore, and Trevor Cerny. They were managed by a group of excellent coaches: Marty Sinkovec; manager and assistant coaches Don White and Ed Moore. The White Sox had an undefeated season.

Moulis tops sprints at Wilmot Speedway

MICHAEL BABICZ

Correspondent

Dave Moulis of Johnsburg chalked up his fourth 25-lap Budweiser Sprint Car Series feature victory of the season to high-light Body Craft of Antioch. Night at The New Wilmot Speedway's in Wilmot, Wisconsin on Saturday, July 20.

Lake Geneva's Ryan Mathews won his first 15-lap J&L Oil Mini-Sprint Series main of the season. Kenosha's B.G. Wood scored his fourth 15-lap IMCA modified main win.

"The track was kind of tricky," said D. Moulis, who earlier became the 24th different sprint heat race winner this season. "In turn one and two, you had to stay low, but in three and four, you could run wide open outside. I have to thank Bill Richards who worked all winter putting this car together. He did a great job."

D. Moulis initially took the sprint main lead with Dave Bliss sneaking inside coming out of turn four to complete the first official lap. D. Moulis put his KC's Cabin/Fox Lake Harbor/Lundy-Miller Excavating Jenkins back in front on the second circuit.

Cautions on laps four, eight and 15 kept D. Moulis from encountering lapped traffic, but kept erasing big leads he would build up. At the finish it was D. Moulis, Tony Engels, Dick Colburn, Bliss and Joe Kristan in the top five. Kristan's finish coupled with Jim Moulis placing 12th in the main saw Kristan take over the season point lead by 3 points.

"It is kind of tough to get around, but I was able to catch Tom Bartz and Scott Sippel," said Mathews, a 18-year-old recent graduate of Badger High School. "I didn't even know Scott got along side me."

The first attempt to start the mini-sprint main was aborted when Doug Gleason got upside down in turn two, collecting Jeff Wesell and Tony Deieso. None of the drivers were injured.

Once the green stayed out, the main went non-stop with John Peters taking the lead. Tom Bartz shot in front on lap four, going from third to first in turn one. Mathews improved the same two spots in turn four to take the point on lap 8. Mathews kept his Hansen Trucking/Wilson Industrial Door/P.L. Publications Baily Chassis #22 in front for his second career feature victory.

Pointleader Scott Sippel got wing to wing with Mathews on the white flag lap coming out of turn four. Mathews was not to be denied, going on to be the fourth different main winner this season. Bartz came home third, John Edquist fourth and Peters fifth.

"Rob Olson was one of my idols when I was growing up and watching from the stands," said Wood. "It's always great to run with him. I have to thank my fans, crew and sponsors who've stuck behind me."

Dave Holden took the early lead in the IMCA main which was slowed once on lap three. Olson shot to the outside to take over the point on lap six after going side by side with Holden for three laps after the restart.

Wood put his Wiscup Siding/Winker Engineering Dirt Works Chassis into the lead on lap 11 after battling back and forth with Olson for several laps. Olson kept runnerup. Jeff Holt was third. Dean Sadowski fourth. Holden fifth.

On Saturday, July 27 will be Miller Genuine Draft Night featuring sprints, IMCA modifieds, mini-sprints and mini-modifieds. WIL 95.1 FM Radio will have a "live remote" broadcast from 6 until 9 p.m. Racetime is 7 p.m.

When you're #1, you can do things others can't.

RL Colts poised for tourney

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Rick Trampke is the seasoned veteran when it comes to Round Lake Colts competing in the AABC post-season tournament.

"I believe this is the best chance that we have had. I want it this year because this is my last year," Trampke said.

Trampke leads off for the Round Lake Colts, a 31-12 team considered a contender in this week's tournament at Bowen Park in Waukegan.

The double elimination tournament began Wednesday and continues through this weekend. Area entries include Lake Zurich Grizzlies at 20-2 and Carmel High at 20-3 and Fox Valley Hurricanes at 17-5. Arlington Heights was Round Lake's first challenge.

The winner advances to the regional tournament in Michigan.

Trampke hits .330, and sets the pace with his on-base percentage. The team has upped its average to .345.

"The offense has always been there. What worries me is the defense - we can get apprehensive and that can hurt you," Glen Jewell, Round Lake Colts manager, said.

Supplying the power for the Colts have been Brett McCullom, Dave Weber and Nate Brewer. McCullom leads the team with a lofty .519 batting average.

"He does not look like a home run hitter. But he also leads the team in extra-base hits with 17," Jewell said of his second-place hitter.

"If it is a fastball, I can hit it out," McCullom, of Antioch, said.

Weber and Brewer continue to hit hard, with both having 51 pre-tournament RBIs.

The Round Lake team's pitching staff has been a consistent one. McCullom leads the way at 8-1 and Mike Preble is 8-3.

"Learning not to throw the curveball," Preble, of Lake Villa, said.

"It has been a tough adjustment for him, but now it makes sense for him," Jewell said.

Last week's clashes saw two relatively easy league wins and a loss to Lake Zurich Grizzlies.

Matt Price improved to 5-1 as he gained the win in a 10-3 win over Mundelein. He scattered 5 hits and walked one in the complete game effort.

McCullom showed that power with a 3-of-4 day with 3 runs, a home run and 2 RBIs.

Brewer was 2-of-3 with 2 runs and an RBI; Weber was 2-of-3 with 2 runs and 2 RBIs; Joe Kane was 1-of-3 with an RBI triple.

A Lake Villa team was no match for Round Lake's traveling team in a 22-2 win. Trampke set the tone with a 2-of-3, 4 runs scored, a homer on a 5 RBI day.

The homer was his second of the year. "It was the same as last time - fastball away," he said.

Dan Pendergast, of Antioch, was 2-of-2 with 3 runs scored and 4 RBI and 3 walks. Weber was 3-of-5 with 2 RBIs and Larry Noble was 2-of-2 with an RBI.

Jerry's back

TINA L. SWIECH

Staff Reporter

Two days after Internal Revenue Service (IRS) authorities padlocked Jerry's Parkway supermarket in Fox Lake, the store was back in business.

Jerry Ming, the owner of two grocery stores and three banquet facilities in Lake County said his attorney was in a Federal Court in Chicago Tuesday filing against what he believes was unfair IRS action.

"We filed bankruptcy as a legal maneuver to get the IRS off our backs," Ming said. "We filed in court to give the IRS a stay. We are not going bankrupt. I see no merit in using that word (bankrupt)."

According to the IRS, and confirmed through the U.S. District Court bankruptcy branch in Chicago, Jerry's Parkway Foods filed Chapter 11 bankruptcy July 23. According to the courts' spokesperson, Chapter 11 is a "reorganization" type bankruptcy which means a business could be re-opened.

By Wednesday, Jerry's Parkway was released from the IRS seizure. Ming blames the forceful closing on "an over-zealous IRS agent."

The store owner explained he had encountered "a problem" with a Wisconsin corporation. "We had some taxes due, and we were paying those taxes," said Ming.

Ming owns and operates Jerry's Parkway Foods in Fox Lake and Grayslake as well as three banquet facilities.

While Steve Mongelluzzo, head of public relations for the IRS, explained his office will first file liens and attempts to work with the owner, seizures are "a last resort."

Ming however denies they cooperated fully with him before heading in to close the store.

"The IRS has a job to do, but they're not God," said Ming.

According to a spokeswoman at the Lake County Recorder of Deeds office, the store owner, has "a lot of tax liens." One in particular which Mongelluzzo pointed out as important is an employment tax lien numbered the "941 tax." After checking with the recorder of deeds, there was one unemployment tax lien owed by Ming for $1,348.64.

Ming explained however, the bulk of his taxes due were generated from the "Wisconsin corporation" issue. Neither the IRS or Ming would disclose the total amount of taxes which were cause for the seizure action.

Tuesday morning reportedly brought news of an auction by the IRS to sell off the perishables and other food from the store quickly.

One resident, Bob Heaney, said he and another Fox Lake businessman were in the store while the auction was going on. He reported the entire contents of Jerry's Parkway was selling for $165,000. Heaney said the starting price was a good one through moving the food, would cost thousands of dollars. Nonetheless, Heaney said the ordeal was "a shame."

Ming said during the reported auction, his attorney was working to get the store reopened. He stated the judge in a Chicago court "ruled in our favor," allowing the store's re-opening Wednesday morning.

"We've stopped the IRS office from trying to intimidate us," stated Ming.

The store owner said he was happy to announce both the Fox Lake store and the Grayslake store will continue operations as usual, as well as his banquet facilities in Ingleside, Round Lake Beach and Antioch.

Election judge training classes scheduled

Lake County Clerk Willard Helander announced that classes for brand new election judges will be held throughout August in preparation for the presidential election in November. The Clerk's office has set a goal to recruit 500 new judges this summer. With 403 precincts in Lake County, the Clerk's office will schedule more than 2,000 election judges to meet the statutory requirement of five judges for each precinct.

"Basic Classes are specifically for those individuals who have never served before as election judges," Helander explained. "The three-hour class, taught by experienced election judges, includes a hands-on session in which participants practice processing voters and the reconciliation procedures after the polls close."

The classes will be held in Libertyville, Grayslake, Prairie View, Waukegan and Wauconda. Class size is limited to 25 to 30 people to enable the new judges to adequately cover all of the procedures used before the polls open, during the voting hours and after the polls close. After completing the class, an election judge is certified as a trained judge. Trained judges receive an additional $20 over the base pay rate of $60.

"Trained judges may also attend the optional Update Classes later in the fall which will cover any circumstances or procedures specific to the November election," added Helander. "Judges who attend Update Class earn an additional $10 for that election. We want to encourage all of our judges to be as prepared as possible for their duties."

To become an election judge or to register for a class, call 360-6632.

Reduced fees for Genealogists

Lake County Clerk Willard Helander has announced that the clerk's office now offers copies of vital records at a reduced fee of $4 for copies stamped "For Genealogical Purposes Only," instead of the usual fee of $8 for certified copies.

"Genealogists often do not need copies with certification," said Helander, "since the information contained in the record is for their research. (Genealogical copies cannot be used for identification or to establish age.) Genealogists may search the indexes of vital records prior to 1916 and our staff time is not used. They should therefore not incur the cost associated with our staff's time to search and certify a copy."

If the search of the index identifies a needed record, the County Clerk's staff is only required to retrieve and photograph the original.

Researchers occasionally wish to have photocopies of one or more pages of the old index volumes and these copies are charged for at $.50 per page.

Birth records 75 years old and older, or death records 20 years old and older, are open to the public for research purposes. Newer records are restricted under Illinois law.

Shelter director helps women find the way to success

SUZIE REED

Staff Reporter

Although it hasn't increased in physical size, the Lake County Haven is nevertheless experiencing growing pains requiring the attention of a full-time administrator.

"We found we were able to serve more and more people," reported Laura Ann Sabino, the Haven's first executive director. "We've gotten more efficient in helping women do what they needed to do to move on to more stable housing."

The Libertyville shelter for homeless women and children opened in 1992 and has added two two-bedroom apartments to its available housing. The home can shelter any combination of 10 women and children; each apartment is shared by two small families, frequently mothers and infants, said Sabino.

'I love Lake County. People are really wonderfully caring and generous.'

— Laura Ann Sabino,
Director, Lake County Haven

The women receive guidance to improve their lot in life with education or employment training. Those who do not have a high school diploma are encouraged to complete a GED, and those who indicate an interest in technical or advanced classes receive assistance. The Haven works with both the College of Lake County and the Private Industry Council of Lake County.

"The program is different from person to person," said Sabino. "We provide case management service to women who graduate from the program and move on, but we stay with a family as long as the need exists."

Women who need a little more time to finish their education or advance in their jobs live in one of the Haven apartments on Milwaukee Ave. Eventually, they are expected to move on and be able to lead a truly independent, financially stable life, said the director.

Sabino, 31, said much of her previous experience was at shelters for victims of domestic violence, such as A Safe Place, but her background is in women's services, and her training was in psychology and women's studies. She has a bachelor's degree from the University of Colorado and a master's degree from Ohio State University. A Chicago native, she now lives in Evanston. She came to the Lake County Haven from the Lakeview Shelter in Chicago.

"I love Lake County. People are really wonderfully caring and generous," she said. "A lot of people up here have a lot of money and resources, but they don't close themselves off to people in need."

Donations of clothing and toys are always welcome at the Lake County Haven. Volunteers, professionals partnerships, and cash contributions are also needed. For information call 680-5408.

Six injured in Rte. 60 crossing crash

TINA L. SWIECH

Staff Reporter

Rural Route 60 residents heard the bang of a two-car accident for more than a mile down the road.

Screeching tires and smashing sounds aren't foreign to Jane and Jim VanDyke, and they certainly weren't out of the ordinary July 21 when six people were injured.

"We called 911 as soon as it happened," said Jim. The Van Dykes, residents of the area for the past 32 years, explained they are so accustomed to hearing the crashes, they can almost judge the severity of the injuries by the sounds echoing down the highway. "We knew this was a really bad one," Jane said.

Shortly after 5 p.m., Lake County Sheriff's Police were dispatched to the scene at Route 60 and Fish Lake Road.

According to reports, 19-year-old Shawn Clybor of Wheeling was driving a 1994 red Chevrolet Cavalier heading northbound on Fish Lake Road, when he failed to obey a stop sign at the intersection. Clybor had three passengers in the car.

In the meantime, Green Oaks resident Joseph Zentmyer, 20, was operating a white 1985 Mercury Marquis station wagon, eastbound on Route 60. His passenger was

Bob Squires of Wonder Lake was the first to arrive on the scene after the accident and found victim Jim Marsh lying in water yards from where he was ejected from one of the cars. Six people were injured in the crash.—Photo by Tina L. Swiech

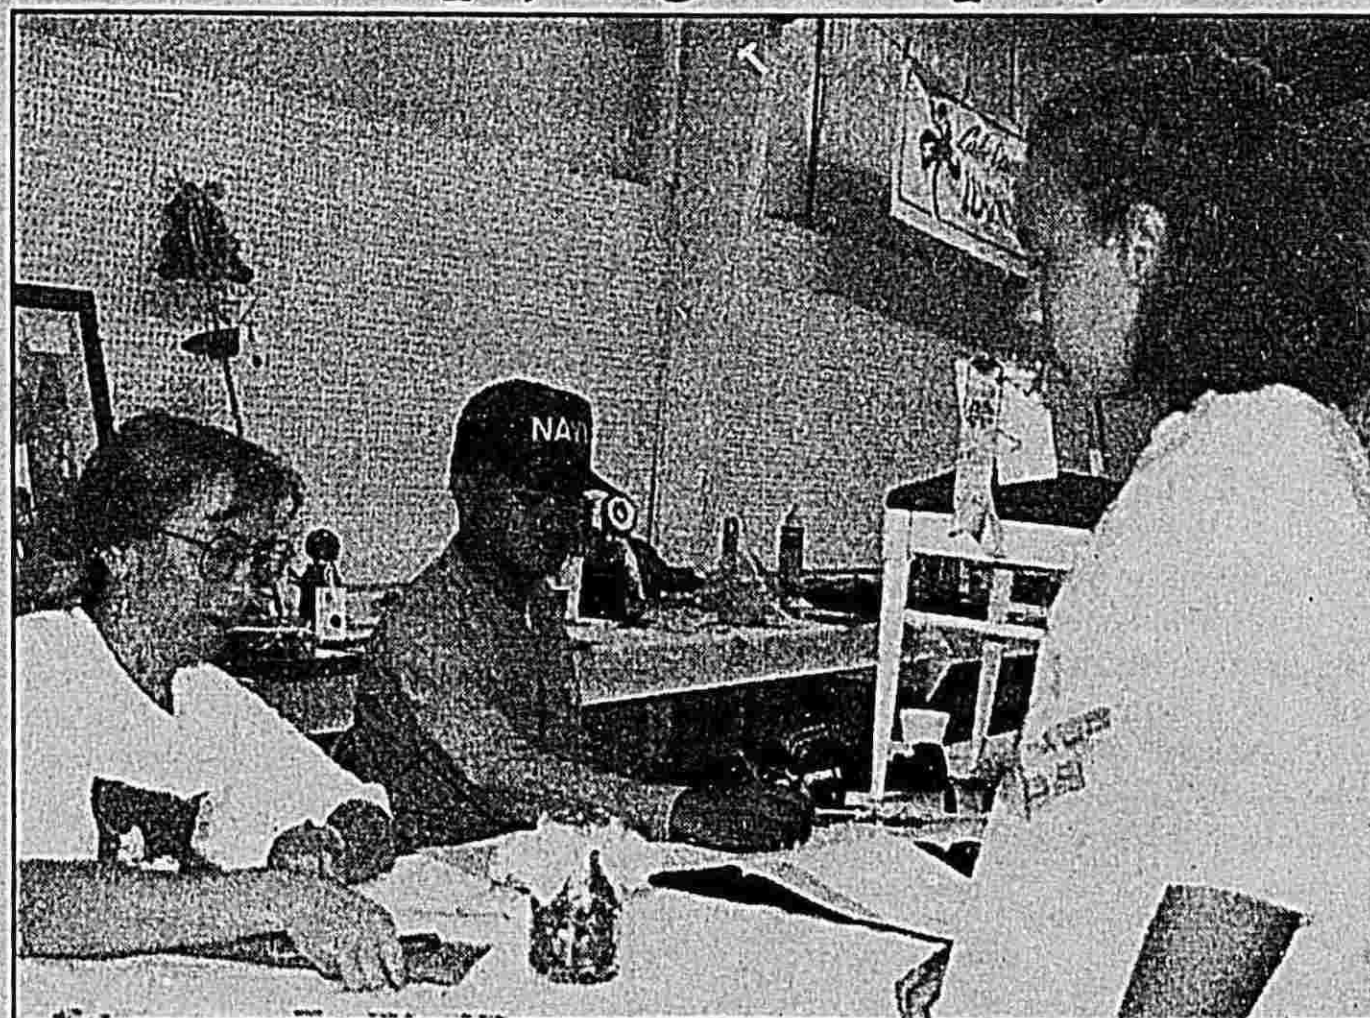

Deborah Zentmyer, 22.

After colliding, both vehicles hit the guard rail on the north side of Route 60. The Chevrolet smashed into the metal rail, while the station wagon lofted up over it.

Bob Squires of Wonder Lake was the first one on the crash site. He was driving west on Route 60 in his camouflage-painted truck when he saw the cars in disarray and broken furniture all over the road which was being hauled in the station wagon.

Sailors help judge 4-H projects at Lake County Fair

MICHAEL H. BABICZ

Staff Reporter

It may be the 68th Annual Lake County Fair, but a first is happening in the 4-H area.

For the first time, U.S. Navy personnel from Great Lakes Naval Training Center in North Chicago joined forces with area business volunteers for the judging of 4-H projects.

Two groups of Sailors, totaling 50 volunteers, assisted the area business professionals in the judging which took place both Monday and Tuesday afternoons, July 22-23, prior to the official opening of the Fair.

The Navy offers various opportunities to provide service to area communities such as in public schools, but this marked the first time they became involved with 4-H.

James Betustak, of the Lake County Cooperative Extension Services, credited United Way of Lake County officials with making 4-H aware of the possibility of obtaining Navy volunteers.

"I submitted a proposal to their community service coordinator, and it was accepted," Betustak said.

Rte. 41 accident injures 4, truck driver cited for speed

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

A barrier wall coming next year is expected to curb the accident rate along Route 41, but it would not have been a factor in a three-vehicle crash on July 22.

"The barrier would not have been a factor. The accident was intersection related," Tim McGrath, Gurnee Fire Chief, said.

A truck driver received the only ticket after the crash. Bobby Porter, age 55, was charged with failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident. The driver was transported to Condell Medical Center in Libertyville.

Airlifted to St. Mary's Hospital in Milwaukee via a "Flight for Life" helicopter was Donna Riter of Sturtevant, Wis. She was listed in serious condition in the hospital's burn center.

McGrath said the woman experienced burns to 15 to 20 percent of her body.

Seven fire departments responded to the crash, from Mundelein to Newport. Assisting rescue efforts in the 12:30 p.m. accident were: Waukegan, Newport and Grayslake. Staffing Gurnee's two fire stations were Fox Lake, Lake Forest, Bonnie Brook, Mundelein and Vernon personnel.

A third vehicle, a van, was found independent of the car and the truck.

Elaine Ambrose has been living near the intersection for more than four decades.

"It is very noticeable that people do speed on Route 41. If they get a green light heading north, then they really rip through there," she said.

The signal at Stearns and Route 41 may be difficult to see at times, she said. A warning sign would be of assistance.

Another problem is the ability of trucks to make a wide turn, she said.

AT A GLANCE

Teens arrested in shooting

ROUND LAKE BEACH—Three Round Lake area teens are in Lake County Jail after being arrested for their involvement in a shooting at the intersection of Clarendon and Cedar Lake drives. Round Lake Beach police arrested a suspect, James Sydenstricker, of Round Lake Beach, the evening of the shooting on July 17 after developing leads. Two other suspects, Matt Jones, 17, of Round Lake Beach and Josh C. Short, were apprehended in Fox Lake two days later.

Fox Lake police found the vehicle the suspects were driving and staked out an apartment building with Round Lake Beach police which lead to their arrest. Amador Estrada, 17, of Round Lake Beach, earned a trip to the state wrestling tournament this year. He remains in critical condition at Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge with a bullet wound in his left chest.—by ALEC JUNG

Train station future is cloudy

LONG LAKE—The future of the current Long Lake train station off Rte. 134 is unclear as the Round Lake officials become involved in the project. Metra officials have asked Round Lake to maintain the parking lot. Ray Wolfel, Round Lake zoning administrator, said the village is interested in eventually putting a station near the intersection of Rte. 134 and Fairfield Road. Wolfel suggests Metra and the village work on a new station now so the developer of the Arrow Lake parcel, which is slated for 1,890 units, can help finance the station. Wolfel said the village's current station is at about 80 percent capacity now. He said a station at Fairfield and Rte. 134 would provide Arrow Lake residents and surrounding residents a larger station with more parking.—by ALEC JUNG

Jerry's closed for tax evasion

FOX LAKE—Authorities took bids on items in the Jerry's Parkway grocery store Tuesday, after the building was seized by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) for failure to pay taxes.

According to a spokeswoman at the Lake County Recorder of Deeds office, the store owner, Jerry Ming, has "a lot of tax liens." One in particular which Steve Mongelluzzo, head of public relations for the IRS said was of importance is unemployment tax lien for $1,348.64. The IRS however would neither confirm nor deny any other liens or the total amount which are cause for the seizure of the business.

One resident who was at the store while the sale was going on Tuesday morning reported the entire contents of Jerry's Parkway was for sale. The perishable items had to be sold as quickly as possible, said Mongelluzzo on Monday.—by TINA L. SWIECH

High school study complete

LIBERTYVILLE—The Libertyville Community High School's Butler Lake Building Evaluation Committee has finished a six month study aimed at advising the school board.

The committee's recommendations included expanding the high school at the Butler Lake campus and looking for a third site to build on to accommodate the student population estimated to be at 3,200 in 11 years.

Also recommended were split shift scheduling with an early shift from 6-11 a.m. and 11 a.m.-4 p.m. This would accommodate the students until a recommended two phase addition could be constructed. Athletic fields and parking would need to be relocated. One possibility included demolishing the Brainerd building to provide land for that purpose.—by ELIZABETH EAKEN

School creates wish list

MUNDELEIN—Voters in Fremont School District 79 will face a referendum request for at least $11.5 million Nov. 5. That's the price tag for the 80,000-square-foot K-3 building the board envisions on the 100 acres purchased across from the existing building earlier this year. The plan was amended to include extra classroom space.

"We've got to have the building designed for what the community requirements are," said board president Andy Rieder.

The board is still considering an option to include the price of that land in the referendum question. Depending on the final draft of the referendum question, the owner of a $200,000 home could pay up to $400 a year to the Fremont District, compared to $167 now.—by SUZIE REED

Rte. 41 crash injures four

GURNEE—A barrier wall coming next year is expected to curb the accident rate along Route 41, but it would not have been a factor in a three-vehicle crash on July 22.

"The barrier would not have been a factor. The accident was intersection related," Tim McGrath, Gurnee Fire Chief, said.

A truck driver received the only ticket after the crash. Bobby Porter, age 55, was charged with failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident. He was transported to Condell Medical Center in Libertyville.

Airlifted to St. Mary's Hospital in Milwaukee via a "Flight for Life" helicopter was Donna Riter of Sturtevant, Wis. She was listed in serious condition in the hospital's burn center.

McGrath said the woman experience burns to 15 to 20 percent of her body.—by STEVE PETERSON

Metra keeps the pace

LAKE COUNTY—In order to meet the needs of commuters traveling in off-peak times, Metra officials are working with the Pace bus system to provide back-up service.

According to Metra spokesperson Chris Knapton, a Pace bus will meet all Milwaukee Road trains at the Libertyville station and is expected to provide hourly service to all stations along the North Central line. Bus drivers will have a hand-held printer to dispense Metra tickets.

Trolley travels through town

LAKE ZURICH—Enjoy an old fashioned ride aboard a trolley car as you travel through the village this weekend and take advantage of bargains during the All Around the Town Sidewalk Sales Days.

The trolley is a San Francisco style car, and is being used to transport people to-and-from the various shopping centers in town, as well as to take a tour around the village and see different historical landmarks, some built near Lake Zurich's founding in 1896.

All Around the Town is sponsored by the Lake Zurich Area Chamber of Commerce, and is running on July 25, 26 and 27.—by SPENCER SCHEIN

Village offers assistance

WAUCONDA—Residents of a subdivision with homes sometimes flooded with raw sewage are getting some relief from village officials.

Approximately 15 homes in the 130 Hubbard's Woods subdivision have had sewage come up through basement drains, shower drains and toilets over the years, including this past May, when the village's sewer treatment plant was overloaded with storm water.

Wauconda officials authorized a long and short term plan to solve the problem. Part of the plan is to install overhead plumbing in the lower level of any residence that has experienced a sanitary sewer backup in the basement. This will eliminate sewage back flowing through the service lines, officials said.

The village is offering to split the cost up to $2,500 for the project of installing the plumbing, which could cost as much as $6,000 or more, depending on the job.

Smoke testing of service lines and door-to-door canvassing of the area will take place later this summer.—by SPENCER SCHEIN

Officials watchful of moth

ANTIOCH—State officials are keeping a watchful eye for the tree-destroying Gypsy moth. Last month, officials from the Illinois Department of Agriculture sprayed about 12 acres of woods near Bluff Lake in unincorporated Antioch as well as several small pockets of wooded areas in Lake Villa and Grant townships. The biological insecticide was meant to eradicate the Gypsy moth which has destroyed thousands of acres of trees in Michigan and northern Wisconsin. Officials said late July and early August is when male moths seek females moths for mating purposes. Traps have been installed throughout northern Illinois and will be checked.

Stan Smith, a field manager with the department of agriculture, warned that the biggest threat is vacationers traveling to infested areas in Michigan or northern Wisconsin and unknowingly bringing the egg masses to Lake County. The female moths will lay their eggs just about anywhere outdoors including trailers, cars, and camping gear.—by KEVIN HANRAHAN

Group homes find locating chancy

Operating group homes in residential neighborhoods is an established method for social agencies to prepare the behaviorally disordered or handicapped with a way-station for self-directed living.

Finding a suitable location and establishing a group facility, however, always is a chancy thing. Sometimes it's easy; sometimes extreme difficulties are encountered.

Glenkirk, a non-profit agency serving the developmentally disabled, ran into both ends of the spectrum recently in two different locations. Grayslake literally welcomed eight Glenkirk girls with open arms when the Wauconda-based agency purchased a home in an upscale subdivision. Libertyville residents threw up roadblocks leaving a trail of misunderstanding and confusion over a Glenkirk location.

The renowned Allendale School of Lake Villa successfully has operated two group homes in Waukegan for a long time. We know of no difficulties with neighbors or the community encountered by a Chicago agency treating for nearly 20 years recovering drug abusers at a one-time estate overlooking Fox Lake.

When agencies get serious about a group home location, there is no such thing as a surprise move-in like a transferee from the Twin Cities or Atlanta. In Glenkirk's case, agency officials moved openly and deliberately, taking special care to confer with future neighbors. The group home concept is sound, productive and here to stay.

Nostalgia sparks county fair days

Fair days are a great time to be alive in Lake County. There's economical fun for everyone with a strong tone of nostalgia. We've found only one ominous note about fair week. It means summer is waning rapidly.

Running through Sunday night at the fairgrounds at Rtes. 45 and I20, the Lake County Fair adopted a slogan this year that reflects bygone days—"Get That Good Country Feelin!" We ain't country anymore, folks. Except maybe at fair time.

One of the strongest appeals of the fair is that the annual exposition offers newcomers and old-timers alike a taste of what Lake County was like before the developers and road builders took over. Yee, haw! See you at the fair.

DUI laws require equal treatment

Curiously, Illinois continues to maintain a double standard regarding operation of a vehicle while under the influence of alcohol. Common sense dictates that an operator is just as impaired whether at the wheel of an automobile, a boat or a snowmobile when under the influence.

Illinois maintains an intricate apparatus with neighboring states for motor vehicle infractions to share DUI convictions and other traffic violations. The reason is obvious. Improve safety. Save lives. Not so within the state for boating.

This disparity or loop hole in the law dramatically was brought into focus recently on the Chain O' Lakes when a boat operator involved in a fatal accident was found to have been involved in three drunken-driving convictions. It makes no difference that alcohol was not believed to be involved in the fatal boating crash. The boater's sense of judgment obviously can and should be held to question.

Lake County Board Rep. Judy Martini (R-Antioch) seems to be a lone voice calling for sensibility in this scenario. Treat motorists and boaters alike, Martini maintains. If you're convicted of DUI whether on land or water, you forfeit driving privileges. Period.

It ought to be easy for the General Assembly to eliminate the double standard. Lawmakers ought to end the nitpicking, double-talk and confusion about the difference between driving a car and operating a boat. DUI is DUI. Why is that so difficult to understand?

VIEWPOINT

Numbers outweigh ideas in government

BILL SCHROEDER

Publisher

Jeanne Kennedy and Jayne Stuckmann share a dilemma. They've run into knotty problems trying to alert the public about knotty problems.

Wauconda officials accused Stuckmann of forging signatures on a petition against use of herbicides in Bangs Lake to kill weeds. Some of the signatures on the petition were purported to be those of deceased residents.

Stuckmann received a warning letter from the state's attorney's office, pointing out that she could be charged with perjury if irregularities ever developed in the petitioning process again.

The letter was "scary," declared Stuckmann, who said her only purpose was trying to alert the community about the dangers of herbicides.

The heart of Kennedy's woes is chemical, too. Pesticides used for mosquito control. Kennedy is fearful that mosquito sprays being used in Round Lake Beach will be harmful to both people and plants.

ple and plants.

Kennedy has been studying public health problems related to chemical control of insects for over 10 years and comes to council meetings with an armload of published documentation.

"I'm treated like a hysterical housewife," complains Kennedy.

Getting taken seriously about serious business often is difficult for citizens dealing directly with government on their own. It shouldn't be, but it is. Stuckmann and Kennedy aren't the first persons to run into opposition or indifference at the hands of officialdom even when they present compelling arguments.

The problem is that elected representatives tend to notice numbers more than ideas. Five will get you 10 that if Stuckmann and Kennedy had come forward heading a delegation resembling a marine amphibious landing their viewpoints would receive serious consideration. In a heartbeat.

LETTERS TO THE Editor

Rte. 53 hikes taxes

Editor:

Three cheers for the Fremont Township Board! At the July meeting of the board, they unanimously passed a resolution stating their opposition to the proposed extension of Highway 53 through their township. We should all remember them at election time. This is the type of representation we need in this county if we are going to stop the hyper-growth and urbanization we have witnessed recently.

At the Fremont Board meeting, Fremont Township Assessor Edwin Sullivan made a presentation showing what the proposed highway has already done to the Fremont property tax base and estimated what will happen in the future. He put together a study that showed the negative impact the highway is having on resale values of homes close to the right of way (an average 3.25 percent drop in value.)

He stated that homes within 1/2 mile of the right of way will have decreasing property values over the next several years because of the proposed tollway. There are about 2,000 homes in the Mundelein area that will be affected. He estimated that Fremont Township will lose about $40,000 in property tax revenue over the next couple of years.

People living in Mundelein need to be aware of this because the Village of Mundelein will lose much more if this is true. Mundelein's tax rate is about seven times that of Fremont Township's, the library's share about twice, and the Mundelein Park District about four times. That's about $1 1/2 million lost to the village in property taxes.

If you live within 1/2 mile of the right of way, you can expect your property to start decreasing in value in the next year or so. If you are further away, expect your property taxes to go up in order for the village to make up the $500,000 they will lose from other homeowners.

I invite the mayor and village board to ask the assessor to give them a presentation similar to the one he gave the Fremont Board. Then they should also vote on a resolution to either oppose or support the proposed tollway. Our village board needs to make it clear to the voters where they stand on this issue. I'd also like to know how they plan to deal with a decrease in revenues if the predictions of the township assessor come true.

Investigator a pawn

Editor:

Your recent editorial concerning "Need Investigator for Liquor Control" is full of misinformation and false insinuations. I'd like to set the record straight.

You mention that the elimination of the liquor investigator position coincided with an inquiry into the influence of "mobster Tony Accardo"—your words. A check of county records contains no information concerning your alleged mobster. In See LETTERS page B5

The Lake County Republican Central Committee has several events planned for the Republican Booth at the Lake County Fair this week.

The main emphasis at the booth will continue to be voter education, according to Suzanne

Simpson, Warren Township Republican Chairman, who is coordinating this year's booth activities. All national, statewide, county and local Republican and candidates have been asked to provide materials for distribution.

Special activities include a free drawing for a child's bicycle donated by Sheriff Clint Grinnell. Congressman John Porter (R-10th) will give away a flag flown over the U.S. capitol in Washington D.C., to the person who comes closest to guessing the number of peanuts in a large jar. Lake County Clerk Willard Helander will again be hosting a raffle for a color TV.

Appearances by GOP leaders include: July 25- Carol Calabresa, Verna

Lame-duck legacy—The passage out of committee of the Nybo property development Monday has some critics of the development wondering if it would stand as a legacy to the lame duck members of the county board.

Word is the staff committee approved passing the development on to the county board with the concession of 5 less homes and the addition of a detention pond.

Critics feel the concessions were not enough and say the committee was anxious to have the board vote on the project prior to the seating of new members in December.

The only way to lower density in the project now is for the full-board to take action.

Letters

fact, the elimination of the investigator was after the completion of the country club investigation that you reference.

Simply put, the liquor investigator position was a pawn of the county board chairman/liquor commissioner in order to keep the real police professionals out of tavern investigations. I chose not to retain an investigator who operated outside of the law enforcement agencies.

Instead, I worked with the Sheriff's Office to acquire the investigative support of well-trained and existing personnel to do the job. Cutting this duplication of staff saved Lake County taxpayers more than $45,000 in salaries and benefits, while at the same time enhancing the liquor-investigative process by having professionally trained law enforcement investigators.

Also worth noting is the added advantage of having the additional check and balance of having the sheriff and the liquor commissioner involved in the investigation. As to your concern that "It's inconceivable that oversight and administration of the county's liquor control ordinances rest in the hands of one person," it's the state law for both counties and cities. Additionally, unlike previous chairmen, I appointed deputy liquor commissioners to assist me at no pay in carrying out the duties of liquor commissioner.

You gave examples of the previous investigator's accomplishments including the crackdown on tavern gambling and prostitution, but the facts simply do not support your claims. It was the Sheriff's Office that conducted the investigation, made the raids and arrest—not the liquor investigator.

Concerning your comment that as the county grows there will be an increase in the pressure to issue additional liquor licenses, again, had you checked, you would have found that I have reduced the number of licenses issued in the county. You may be interested in the fact that with the sheriff investigators conducting this work, the number of violations that go to hearing are four times more than under your recommended method.

Finally you imply that prostitution and gambling are taking place in the taverns of Lake County. If anyone, including the writer of this editorial, has any information in this regard, he or she has an obligation to turn over such information to the law enforcement agencies of Lake County.

Save the taxpayers money and utilize professional law enforcement personnel. Perhaps your paper should employ an investigator to get the facts straight in the future.

Lake County Board Chairman/ Liquor Commissioner

Parade time adds up

Editor:

There is only so much taxpayers have a right to expect for the salaries they pay to elected officials. Robert Neal, County Board Member and nominee for recorder of deeds makes a good case for why he spearheaded a 25 percent raise to increase the recorder's salary to $100,000 per year. As Neal says, being recorder involves far more than sitting in the county building 40 hours per week. The recorder "is also expected to make speeches and be in parades."

But even that is only part of the story.

Recently, at a meeting, Neal was called upon to lead the Pledge of Allegiance. And if he wins in November he will also be called upon to play in golf outings, attend picnics, go to steer roasts and be seen at cocktail parties, not to mention more parades. Few executives in the private sector would be willing to do all that for a mere $100,000 a year.

Station or Whirlpool box?

Editor:

The anticipated opening day of the METRA commuter is August 19. METRA's schedule will include eight trains per week-day.

Viewing some of the nearly completed train stations along the Wisconsin Central route gave way to a feeling of victory for the Northern Lake County corridor. Bold innovative architectural designs were evident from Lake Villa's new train station.

With anticipated excitement I viewed the Antioch train station on Depot Street. As I looked for the missing train station, disbelief and obvious distress was the apparent. No train station, only an empty Whirlpool box was to be seen. This was the location that Antioch's Mayor Shineflug has selected, but no station? It is possible that the mayor has suddenly, without warning, become a visionary and built the station at Antioch Community High School where it should be.

In this way students from Lake Villa and Lindenhurst could commute to ACHS via METRA.

Mayor Shineflug is no visionary and Antioch has no train station, and if it is built on Depot Street, it's in the wrong place. With 60 percent of ACHS students being bussed north from Lake Villa and Lindenhurst, who would stand in the way of this vision, only Mayor Shineflug.

Spraying endangers health

Editor:

This letter is in regards to the chemicals being sprayed in my neighborhood for mosquitoes.

I wish we could stick with the larviciding in our town rather than spraying as this is a much safer method of controlling mosquitoes.

I am especially concerned as my two young sons have asthma and after speaking with their pediatrician I have learned that this spraying can be dangerous to their health. He advised me to avoid contact with these chemicals.

I am also very annoyed with the mosquitoes, but I am more concerned with what they are spraying being safe for my kids.

ONGOING PROGRAMS

Victory Memorial Hospital

Joy of parenting

The second Saturday of every month Joy of Parenting classes are held at Victory Memorial Hospital, from 10 a.m. to noon. The class teaches new parents skills essential for caring for new babies such as bathing, feeding and safety. The class also discusses normal behavior patterns, sleeping patterns and changes in the marital relationship. Spanish speaking classes are also available. Cost of the class is $10. Interested parents should call the New Family Center at 360-4121.

Paperwork

Fill out paperwork now to tell your doctor or hospital what treatment you want should you ever have an illness or accident which leaves you unable to communicate. For information on Advance Directives, including Durable Power of Attorney for Health Care and the Living Will, call Victory Memorial Hospital's Pastoral Care Dept. at 360-4014.

Good Shepherd Hospital

Brain group

Good Shepherd Hospital and Dewitt Psychological Services are jointly sponsoring a free support group called "The Brain Group" for higher functioning people who have suffered brain trauma through accidents, trauma, malformations, strokes or other degenerative diseases. The group meets the first Wednesday of each month from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at the hospital. For more information call 381-0123, ext. 5093 or Dewitt Psychological Services at 382-5688.

Rational Recovery

This alcohol/chemical dependency recovery program is an alternative to Alcoholics Anonymous. Meets at 6:30 p.m. Thursdays at 6:30 p.m. in the Private Dining Room at Good Shepherd Hospital. For more information call 381-0123, ext. 5400.

Lake County Health Dept.

Mental illness support

The Lake County Health Dept. Div. of Mental Health offers a monthly support group for parents and family members of mentally ill individuals. Meetings are held the second Thursday of the month from 7 to 8:30 p.m. at the Lake County Health Dept., 3012 Grand Ave., Waukegan. This is a free service for Lake County residents. For more information, call 872-4242.

Confidential clinics

The Lake County Health Dept. offers confidential walk-in clinics for the screening and treatment of sexually transmitted diseases each week at the following times: Tuesdays, from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m. and Thursdays from 4:15 to 6:30 p.m. at Belvidere Medical Building, 2400 Belvidere Rd., Waukegan.

Tickets on sale for suburban theater AIDS benefit

Tickets go on sale Aug. 1 for "A Time to Act: Celebrate the Joy of Living," an evening of entertainment and fundraising to benefit Season of Concern, the Chicago theatre community's effort for programs providing direct-care support to people with AIDS.

To be held on Sept. 7, the benefit will feature musical and dramatic entertainment by suburban theatre performers, as well as a raffle of exciting prizes. The raffle will begin at 7 p.m., with the performance to follow at 8 p.m. The gala event will be held at Theatre 219, located at Niles West High School in Skokie.

Suggested donations of $20 per person will be accepted by advance sale or at the door. To order tickets, call 847-215-2358.

"A time to Act: Celebrate the Joy of Living" is the second annual event to join the talents, enthusiasm and commitment of the men, women and children of the suburban theatre community in the fight against AIDS. In 1995, the first benefit featured more than 100 performers and volunteers who played before an audience of 850 and raised more than $15,000.

Studies have shown the number of AIDS cases in the suburbs is rising at a rate of 23 percent a year. According to 1995 statistics, AIDS is the leading cause of death for all Americans between the ages of 25 and 44.

Items to be raffled during the event will include tickets to attend "The Late show with David Letterman," four seats for a Northwestern University football game and two tickets to a Bulls exhibition games, restaurant gift certificates and theater memorabilia.

For more information or reservations, call 847-215-2358 after Aug. 1.

League, health dept. gear up for kids' fair

The League of Women Voters and the Lake County Health Department will once again team up to present the Kids 1st Health Fair, scheduled for Aug. 7 at Waukegan High School.

The fair is designed to provide assistance to Lake County families with limited income who must meet school health requirements. The fair also provides preventative health services for preschoolers.

The health fair is a unique opportunity for children of families with an income at or below 185 percent of the national poverty level to receive all of the back-to-school health and supply needs at once. Given the growing need for these types of free services, this year's fair should at least equal, if not exceed, the more than 2,000 children who received services at last year's fair. Spanish translators will be available.

In addition to meeting State of Illinois preschool and school health requirements including physical examinations and immunizations, children can receive a variety of other health and developmental screenings such as dental, speech and hearing, scoliosis, head, and sickle cell anemia. If further medical assistance is required, referrals are made and the Lake County Health Department follows up on treatment.

Upon evidence of completion of all required health services, children receive a new backpack or tote bag filled with age-appropriate school supplies. Preschoolers will receive a free gift.

At the fair, a variety of social service agencies are represented to provide families with information on such issues as child care, crisis intervention, education, health services, housing, employment, parenting, substance abuse, legal services, safety, family counseling, and other community services. The fair sponsors hope that as families learn more about health systems available to them, they will become better health service users.

As fair participation rates continue to rise, there is increased concern over the number of families the fair can properly serve. This year, a voucher program will be available to attract families to utilize Lake County Health Department services to meet school health requirements. Upon completion of a clinic visit, families will receive a voucher verifying that school health exams, screening and immunizations are up to date. The family can then attend the fair to participate in the educational aspects and will receive backpacks and school supplies for their children.

There are a few requirements families must meet in order to take advantage of services offered at the fair. All children must be accompanied by a parent or guardian. Two forms of identification, including one with address, must be presented along with two paycheck stubs for each working adult. For immunizations, parents should bring each child's previous records and identification.

For more information contact the Lake County Health Department at 360-2937.

Summer fun may cause common ear complaint

Ear infections are among the most frequently diagnosed childhood illnesses, resulting in approximately 30 million pediatric visits each year. In the summer, a particular type of ear infection, referred to as "swimmer's ear," becomes common.

Swimmer's ear is actually an infection in the skin of the canal that leads from the outer shell of the ear to the eardrum. It is caused by bacteria and fungus, and often occurs when water from swimming sits in the canal, creating a warm, dark, wet place in which germs love to grow.

Once the germs start to grow, symptoms will begin to appear. The ear may itch and become tender to touch, possibly becoming extremely painful. There may be a milky discharge from the ear, and redness and swelling on the outside of the ear will become noticeable. A doctor should examine the ear and treatment can be started before the infection advances.

If a tendency toward frequent swimmer's ear infection exists, there are a few ways to help prevent it. The simplest method is to use a hair dryer on the cook setting to "blow dry" the ears after swimming. Using mild vinegar solution in the form of ear drops available at pharmacies helps to discourage fungus.

Almost all infections will be readily cleared with prompt treatment. "Ears to a good summer!"

CLC to sponsor summer blood drive

The College of Lake County health center, in cooperation with LifeSource, will sponsor a summer blood drive from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. on July 31 in the Brandel Court at the Grayslake campus, 19351 W. Washington St.

Donors must be 17 years or older, weigh at least 110 pounds and be in good health. Donors will receive a mini-physical that includes blood pressure check and iron level count, and have a chance to win a weekend trip for two to New Orleans.

The blood drive will be conducted on a walk-in basis; however, priority appointments may be scheduled by calling the CLC health center at 223-6601, ext. 2274.

Catchpenny sets summer sale

Catchpenny Resale Shop, operated by the Auxiliary of Good Shepherd Hospital, will sponsor a Summer Half-Price Sale from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Aug. 1.

The sale will feature spring and summer fashions for men, women and children, jewelry and shoes, home decor, and gift items. "Dollar Days" and "Bag Day" are also scheduled for August.

All proceeds from Catchpenny are donated to the Good Shepherd Hospital auxiliary to help raise funds for major hospital services such as the birth center, emergency room and cancer unit. Catchpenny takes in and sells a variety of goods, both new and used, including clothing, hand-made craft items, cookbooks, housewares and stationary. All of the items are donated to Catchpenny from individuals and families throughout the surrounding communities.

Catchpenny is located at 118 E. Main St. in Barrington. Hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday. Donations will be accepted during these times. For more information call 381-7721.

Baker's delight

Lake County Coroner Barbara Richardson, chairman of the bake shop committee for Victory Hospital Foundation's Festival of Trees, holds the basket while Connie Fiorelli happily pulls out the name of another winner. Fiorelli won one of nine time slots at the festival bake shop. Groups selected in the drawing will raise money for their projects and Victory during the festival, scheduled for Nov. 20-24 at Midlane County Club.

Program helps beat snack attacks

How many times have your best efforts at weight management been undermined by a seemingly uncontrollable urge to snack? Karen Demski, manager of the NutriQuest program at Condell's Medical Center Health Institute (MCHI) offers help.

'Attempting to totally give up snacking is an unreasonable goal, and there's really no reason to do it.'

—Karen Demski, NutriQuest

"Actually, snacking is not the problem," Demski says. "It is the lack of planning for snacks that often leads to between meal consumption of high-calorie, high-fat foods." She says that snacking on the right kinds of foods can actually help weight management efforts.

"Attempting to totally give up snacking is an unreasonable goal, and there's really no reason to do it. Planning healthy, moderate-calorie snacks between meals can help you eat less at meal time," Demski notes.

"Some people may find it easier to resist a second portion at lunch or dinner if they know they will have a snack one or two hours later," she says. "The important part is planning ahead to have healthy, satisfying snacks on hand when hunger strikes. You're far more likely to end up dealing with a 'snack attack' in a position way."

So exactly what can you do to avoid eating the wrong foods when a snack attack strikes? Demski offers the following tips:

- Include snacks as part of daily food plan. Schedule healthy snacks (fruits, fruit juices, sliced vegetables) for the times you typically find yourself most tempted.

- Keep a bowl of air-popped popcorn ready in an air-tight container for those "have to have something" moments.

- Take an apple or other fruit with you when your schedule will keep you on the road during prime snacking times. (You'll be far less likely to pick up a candy bar or chips.)

- Determine when the urge to snack is the strongest for you (just before your monthly period, when friends are on hand to watch the big game, or when work-related stress is highest). At home, make certain your cupboards and refrigerator are stocked only with low-fat or fat-free, low calorie snacks during these times. And if a vending machine is your only option at work, look for pretzels or plain crackers when the urge to snack hits.

- Do your grocery shopping (including snack items) only when you feel in control (immediately after working out or walking, or after finishing a healthy meal. You'll feel more motivated to make healthy selections.

For more information on behavior modification, nutritional education and weight management, attend one of the free weight management orientation programs offered every Thursday at 7:00 p.m., at Centre Club, 200 W. Golf Rd., Libertyville. For reservations, call MCHI at 362-2905, ext. 5770.

Ravinia plans second annual International Night

Ravinia Festival's second annual International Night sponsored by Altheimer and Gray will take place on Fri., August 2. A cosmopolitan collection of dance, and vocal and instrumental ensembles representing Chicago's culturally rich and diverse ethnic communities will present pre-concert performances on the lawn and in Ravinia's indoor venues, Bennett-Gordon Hall and Martin Theatre from 5:30 to 8 p.m. The festivities will continue as the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, Ravinia's Music Director Christoph Eschenbach and internationally acclaimed pianist Alicia de Larrocha travel around the world in 80 minutes with such favorite pieces as Dvorak's Slavonic Dances, Sibelius's Finlandia, Stravinsky's Scherzo a la Russe and De Falla's Nights in the Gardens of Spain.

Extending an invitation to attend the festive evening, Ravinia's Executive Director Zarin Mehta remarked, "I encourage everyone to experience the color, pageantry and fine orchestral music of Ravinia's second annual International Night, an evening like no other during our season." Patrons can join in the celebration by attending in international attire. The evening begins at 5:30 p.m. in Martin Theatre with a performance of Gamelan music, courtesy of the Indonesian Consulate. Ensembles currently scheduled to perform on the lawn from 6 to 7:30 p.m. include Swedish children's choir Sverige Borsen and Scandinavian dance troupe Leikarringen (Heimhug), as well as dancers and choristers from the Italian Cultural Center. The Sardarabad Armenian Dance Group, the Mexican Folkloric Dance Company of Chicago and Alyo Children's Dance Theater will exhibit their choreography on the stage of Bennett-Gordon Hall in the John D. Harza building between 6 and 7:30 p.m. The Lipizzan Stallions from Tempel Farms will also make a special appearance in Ravinia's west meadow at 7 p.m.

Ravinia gratefully acknowledges Altheimer and Gray for their sponsorship of this evening's performance. The Festival would also like to thank the Chicago Sister Cities International Program for their support of International Night 1996.

The Ravinia Festival is located at Lake-Cook and Green Bay roads in Highland Park. Tickets for International Night are $15-35 for Pavilion seats and $8 for lawn admission. For concert information or to charge tickets by phone with all major credit cards, call (312) R-A-V-I-N-I-A.

Ticket orders may also be sent by e-mail through Ravinia's world wide web site at <http://www.ravinia.org> or by fax to (847) 266-0641. For fax orders, please state your name, address, daytime phone number, credit card number and expiration date, performance time and date, price and number of tickets required. A $3 handling charge will be added to all orders. For further information regarding International Night please contact Eileen Chambers at (847) 266-5018.

Woodstock Mozart Festival keeps historical sounds alive

SPENCER SCHEIN
Staff Reporter

Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart may have died more than 200 years ago but his music lives on at the Woodstock Mozart Festival, celebrating its 10th anniversary this year.

The Festival is held over three consecutive weekends, beginning July 26 at the Woodstock Opera House, a historic setting for a historic concert.

Built in 1889, the house provides an intimate setting for the series with only 425 seats, "which makes this a very European and authentic experience," said Anita Whalen, executive/artistic director of the Mozart Festival.

Guest conductors and performers are brought in from all over the world to perform Mozart's symphonies and concertos the way they were meant to be heard, said Whalen.

This year's festival will open with Catherine Comet (pronounced "Comay") as guest conductor and Janis Vakarelis sitting in on piano for performances on July 26 and 27. Comet has been the music director of the Grand Rapids Symphony since 1987, and held the same post with the American Symphony Orchestra from 1989 through 1992.

This marks her third appearance at the festival.

Although the festival is well known among musicians and music lovers, it was not always that way. The festival was formed as a way to use the opera house during the summer, and originally was held over four weekends.

An over anxious plan to celebrate the 200th anniversary of Mozart's death in 1991 left the festival in debt, and soon without a director.

To the rescue came Whalen, who cut the festival back by one weekend and held "meat and potato" programs.

Little by little the festival has grown back to what it once was.

"Now it is an absolutely world class event," she said.

Whalen not only handles the executive ends of the festival, she also coordinates the talent, seemingly meeting audience approval.

"I pick people I like, and everybody else seems to like them too," she said.

The works performed each evening are also selected by Whalen, after asking the performers what they would prefer.

Following Comet and Vakarelis on Aug. 2 and 3 will be Karl Sollak, personal conductor of Placido Domingo, and Donald Peck on flute. Peck has been performing with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra for 39 years, and is its principal flautist.

Ending the 10th season are conductor Edvard Tchivzhel and violinist Mark Peskanov. Tchivzhel was the former conductor of the Moscow Philharmonic, the Moscow Radio Symphony orchestra and Leningrad's Kirov Theatre of Opera and Ballet in the former U.S.S.R.

While touring the United States in 1991 he defected, and has since played with the Baltimore Symphony at the Woodstock Mozart Festival. He now serves as music director of the Fort Wayne Philharmonic.

Each show starts at 8 p.m., and is preceded with a pre-concert discussion at 7:10 p.m., where the performers, music composers and others give their interpretation of the music about to be played and its history.

The opera house was nearly torn down in the early 1970s, before it was saved and restored in 1977. Through the years it served as the stage for performances given by the likes of Geraldine Page, Paul Newman, Shelley Berman, and Orson Welles.

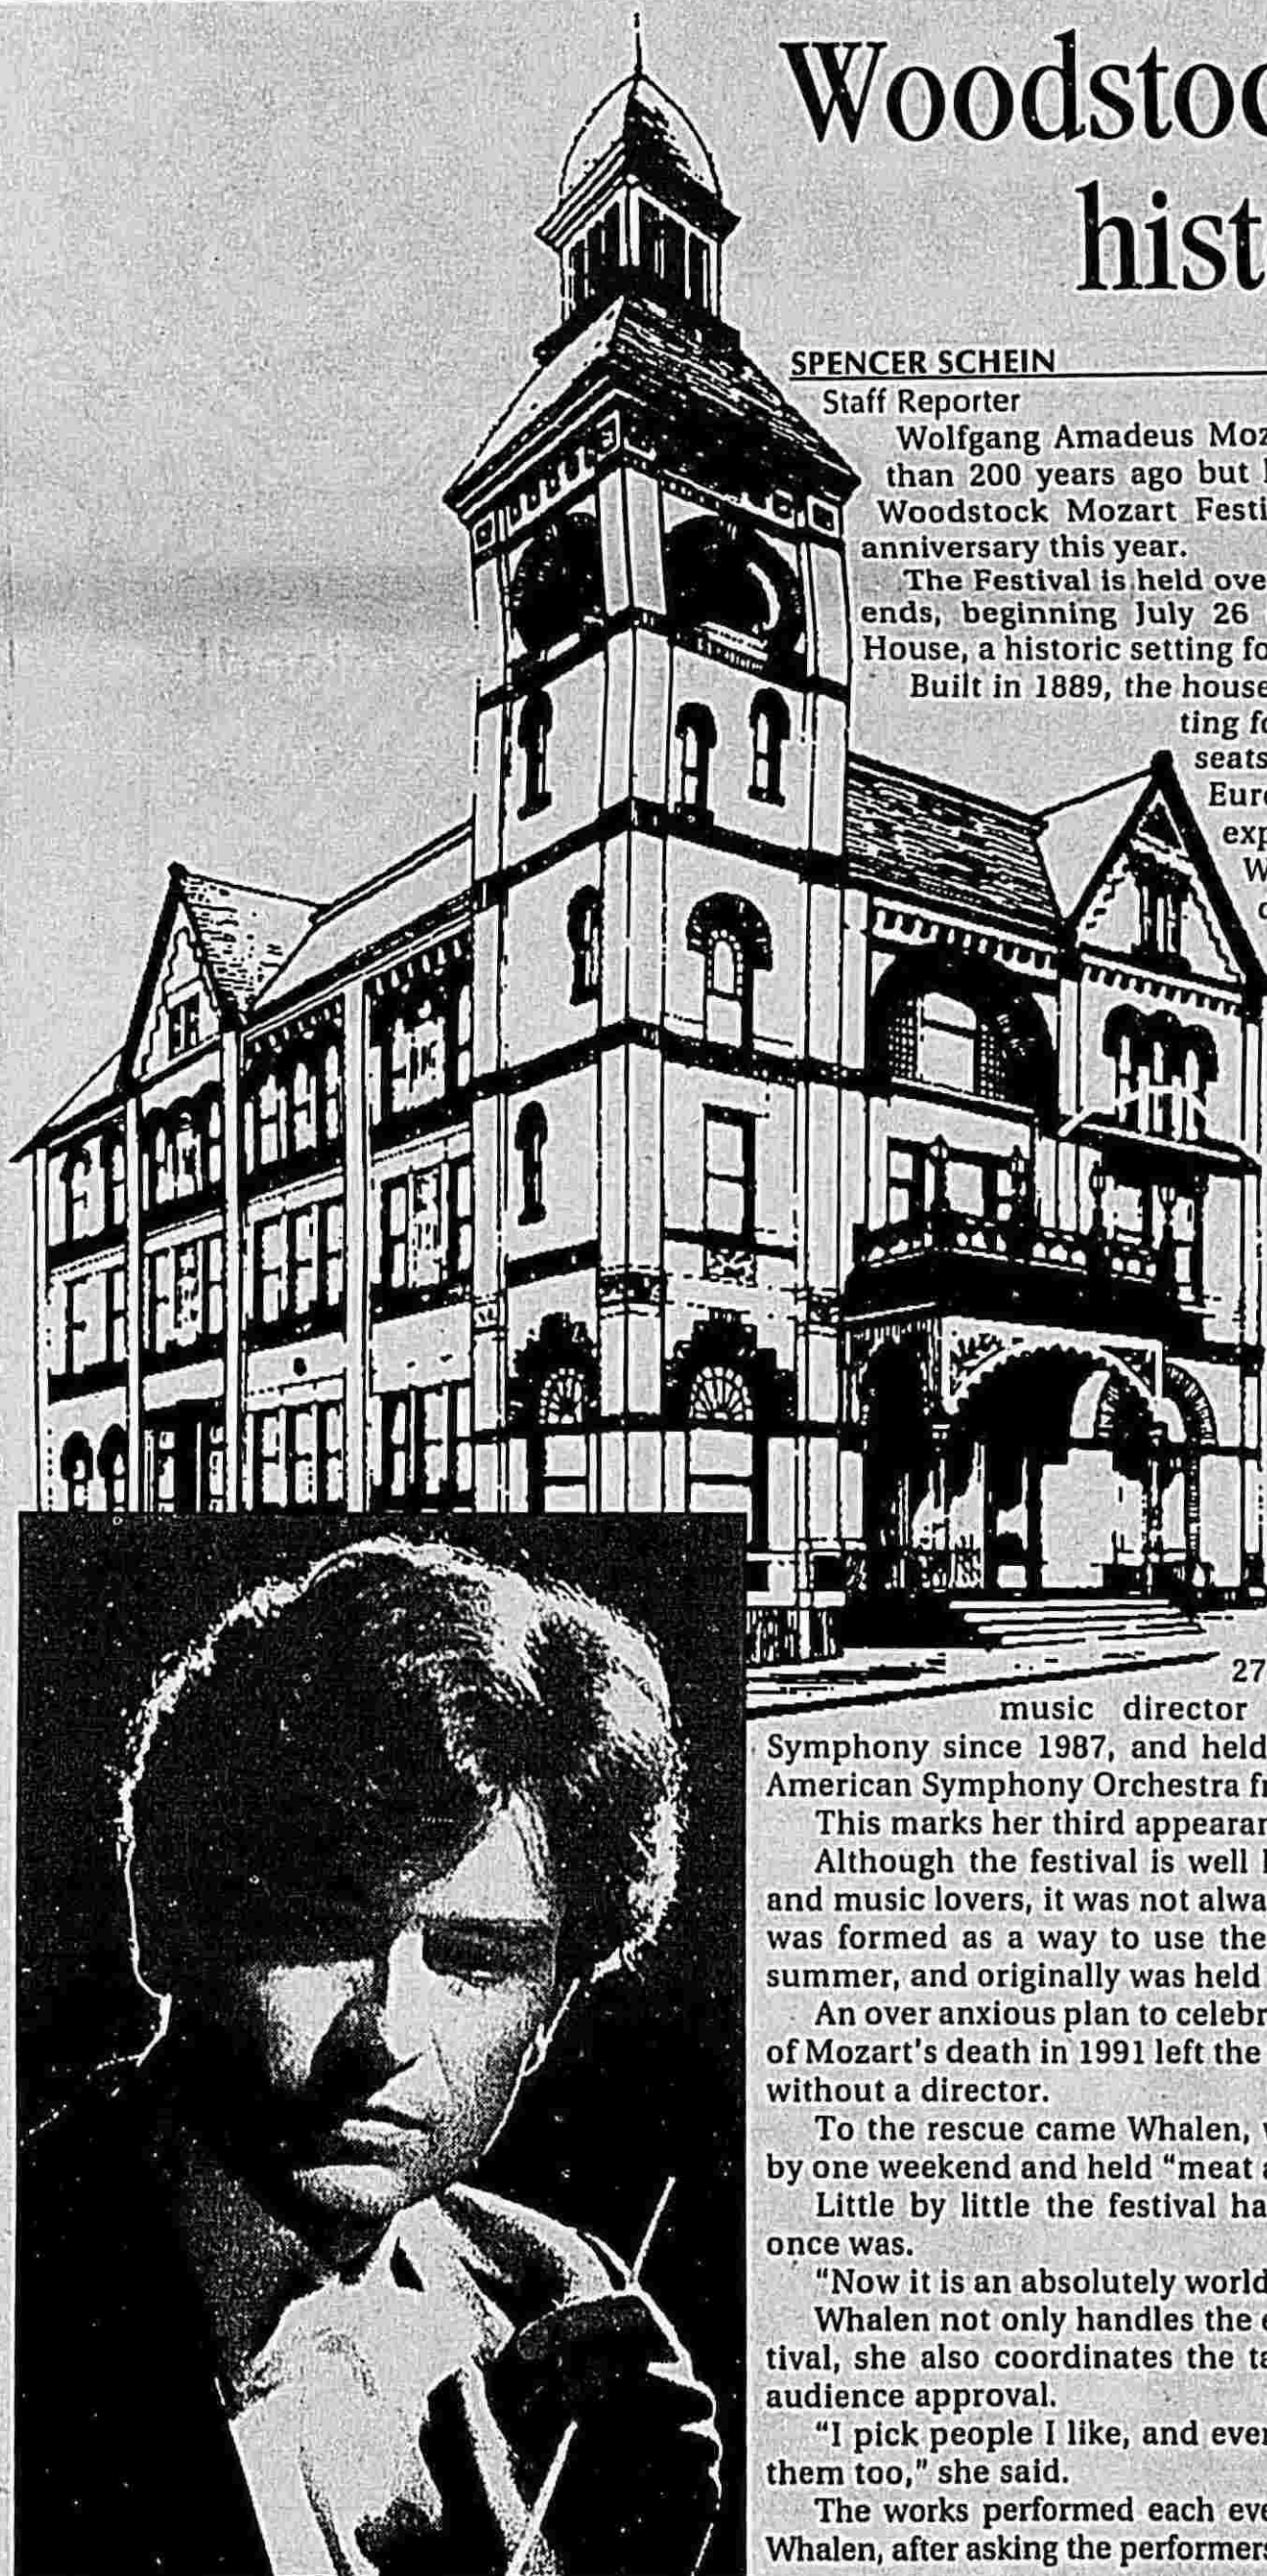

Tickets for the festival are a hot commodity, going on sale in December. All seats for the July 27 show are gone, but some may still be available for the opening night. Tickets may also be available for other performances, except for Aug. 10, the last of the season.

"It is an exhilarating experience," Whalen said. "If people want something special to do, they should consider coming to the festival."

The Woodstock Opera House, 121 Van Buren, is located in Woodstock, west of Route 47 on Route 14. To charge tickets by phone call 815-338-5300.

'Stand for Children' in Washington begins work on 'Vote Smart' campaign

Stand for Children Day in Washington, DC on June 1 was a remarkable experience. It was a coming together of over 200,000 people, representing a cross section of our nation, standing in support of children and parents committed to strengthening families and recognizing the role of the community in helping youngsters develop into responsible, productive, successful adults.

Those of us standing in front of the Lincoln Memorial were of all ages, colors, economic backgrounds and political affiliations. Writing in the "New York Times," Bob Herbert called us "a study in inclusiveness—the most thoroughly and comfortably integrated large crowd I have ever seen." Everyone had a good time at the Stand for Children event. Amazingly there was not one crying child. It was as if you plucked a moment out of a violent world and devoted it to perfect peace on behalf of children.

We came together to challenge families, religious, cultural, business and government leaders to work harder to improve our children's health, safety, school readiness and quality of life across America. I hope that the day will set the stage for some positive actions across the country. Change won't happen unless we make it happen.

The first action of the Child Care Coalition of Lake County will take place at the polls next November. Members of the Coalition are receiving training to conduct voter registrations at Lake County day care centers and preschools. We hope to register parents, teachers and members of the community.

Once we have people registered, we will provide them with the tools to "vote smart." Along with other Illinois organizations supporting children and families we will send questionnaires to candidates, and we will make their answers available to the voters.

Watch for the "Back to School" section of Good Beginnings in Lakeland Newspapers in August for information about the "Vote Smart" campaign. By voting smart we all can stand up for children.

Senator Geo-Karis wins Child Care Coalition award

Geo-Karis

State Senator Adeline J. Geo-Karis of the 31st district, is the 1996 recipient of the Child Care Coalition of Lake County's annual award for outstanding efforts on behalf of children and families.

"Senator Geo-Karis has been a consistent supporter since she became a member of the Illinois Senate in 1979," said Patricia Goodman, president of the Child Care Coalition of Lake County. "She always is responsive to our concerns about children and families."

Senator Geo-Karis, who is assistant Senate majority leader, was the first Lake County woman ever elected to the Illinois Senate and House. She successfully sponsored and supported bills for strong crime control and to benefit young people as well as senior citizens and the disabled.

The Child Care Coalition—a not-for-profit organization of Lake County agencies, businesses and individuals—awarded its outstanding member award for 1996 to Marge Colclough, director of St. Therese Early Learning Center.

—DEAR MARILYN—

Dear Marilyn:

Q. Summer days are not always warm and sunny. I would appreciate some ideas on what to do with my two preschoolers when we can't get out-doors to play.

A. Unfortunately children's activity levels are not determined by the weather. Children need and like to be busy. A few suggestions that quickly come to mind take place in the kitchen. For example simple cooking tasks: making Jello for dinner, preparing a batch of an easy cookie recipe (individual cookies rather than a bar cookie is more fun), or cutting bread with cookie cutters and having the children fix their own luncheon sandwiches.

Another kitchen activity is to let the children wash their toys. They can stand on chairs at the sink which is filled with warm water, soap and sponges. They'll have a ball, but expect spills and wet clothes. After drying the toys, why not take the opportunity to sort through and discard broken toys and recycle the toys that the children have outgrown.

Let the children sort through magazines for colorful pictures to cut and paste. Make a book of individual pages of flowers, babies or people, toys and food.

Children love to look at themselves. Bring out home videos or picture albums. Preschoolers delight in seeing themselves as babies.

A favorite of mine is setting up an "office" at the kitchen table. Include old or play phones, envelopes, Scotch tape, a stapler, pencils and paper or pads. You'll get an earful on how young children perceive business operations.

You might also consider putting together an art basket or box to be used only on rainy days or when the children are sick. Fill it with bits of ribbon and wrapping paper, stickers and stamps that come free in the mail, cotton balls, colored pencils, glue sticks, shirt cardboard, little buttons and other creative materials you might come upon.

A plan-ahead activity would be to store for future enjoyment some of the many, many birthday and holiday gifts your children receive each year. On a rainy day new toys will be most welcome.

If all else fails, bring out that old reliable deck of cards, make up your own games and rules—and go for it.—by MARILYN STRAUS, Chair Highland Park/Highwood Home Child Care Association. Write to Marilyn, c/o Lakeland Newspapers, P.O. Box 268, Grayslake, IL 60030, and she'll answer your questions in this column, a regular feature of the Child Care Coalition of Lake County's section running four times a year in Lakeland Newspapers.

Health tips: Summer fun can be healthy, safe

Summer is a wonderful time for play, relaxation and enjoying the outdoors. Children and adults too, are especially eager to take advantage of all the good things summer, sun, warm days, swimming, picnics, visits to relatives and friends, and experiencing nature. As with all of our activities, we must make careful decisions so we can enjoy our summer experiences healthfully and safely.

It Feels So Good:

When in the sun

- Sunscreen (SPF 15 or more) is a must. Read instructions for frequency of application. Intense sun exposure in childhood increases the risk of skin cancer in adult life.

- Avoid exposure between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m.

- The sun's rays get through clouds and reflections off water and sand increases sun exposure.

- Wear a hat preferably with a brim.

- Use sunglasses. Check labels to be sure they meet ANSI UV requirements.

- Babies under six months should stay out of the sun.

What A Change After Winter:

Warm days

- Heat Exhaustion. Staying outdoors too long on a hot day or spending too much time in an overly hot house can lead to heat exhaustion. Heat exhaustion is a result of excessive loss of body fluids and necessary body elements.

- Symptoms can include: Nausea, dizziness, light headedness, severe headache, cold, clammy skin, heavy perspiration, shallow breathing, muscle cramping.

- Prevention and precautions:

- + Drink extra liquids to replace fluids lost through perspiration (water or fruit juices are better than soft drinks, coffee, tea or alcohol).

- + Stay indoors in a cool place.

- + Schedule strenuous activities (lawn mowing, biking, jogging) during cooler early morning or evening hours.

- + Wear lightweight, loose-fitting clothing that does not interfere with evaporation of perspiration.

- + If you must be outdoors, pace yourself and plan frequent water breaks. Take breaks in the shade and have plenty of water or fruit juice available.

- If symptoms occur, immediately get medical attention.

- Heat stroke. Overexposure to direct sunlight with or without physical activity can lead to heat stroke. Just sitting or lying in the sun too long can cause the problem.

- Symptoms can include: Headache, red, dry face, skin hot to the touch, elevated temperature (105 degrees or more), strong pulse,

- in extreme cases loss of consciousness, seizures, irregular heartbeat.

- Prevention and precautions:

- + During the hot summer months, stay out of the sun as much as possible and keep cool preferably in an air conditioned place or fans and open windows to circulate the air.

- + Keep blinds or curtains closed when sunlight is directly on the windows.

- + Frequent cool baths or showers.

- + Avoid cooking or baking during the hottest part of the day.

- + High humidity increases the risk of heat stroke.

- Heat stroke is considered a medical emergency. Get help immediately. Elderly and athletes are very susceptible to heat stroke.

So Refreshing and Relaxing:

Swimming at the beach or pool

- Check to be sure there is a posted current license issued by the Illinois Department of Public Health.

- At a beach, check for cleanliness. Avoid a beach littered with trash or debris or one where there are many ducks or geese. The waste from these birds cause high bacteria levels in the water.

- The beach should be sandy not muddy with a grass area around it.

- Do not swim in stagnant or still water. Water movement helps keep the water clean.

- At a pool or beach, determine if a lifeguard is present. If not, do not allow children to swim unless accompanied by a responsible adult who knows first aid and lifesaving techniques. No one should ever swim alone.

- There must be grates covering the drains in a pool. Suction made by the circulating pumps in the pool can be very dangerous unless reduced by grates.

- For beach or pool, be sure lifesaving devices are readily available for emergencies.

- Water quality in pools should be properly maintained. The water should appear crystal clear, be continuously circulating and not have a strong odor of ammonia or chlorine. Everything Tastes So Good: Picnics

- Remember, keep hot food hot (140 degrees or higher), cold food (40 degrees or less).

- Wash hands thoroughly (15 seconds) with soap and warm water before handling any food especially after handling raw poultry, meat or eggs.

- Wash fresh fruits and vegetables thoroughly.

- Use separate cutting boards or surfaces for raw meats, salad, vegetables or any foods served uncooked. Clean and disinfect all utensils and cutting boards especially after using for raw meat and poultry.

- Cook foods thoroughly especially ground beef, poultry and pork. Raw beef can be a source of infection because disease-causing organisms can survive in under cooked meats. These germs are introduced in the slaughtering process and mixed throughout the meat during grinding.

- Raw meats, fish and poultry must be kept cold until cooked.

- Be sure raw meat, fish and poultry do not come into contact with ready to eat foods (sliced tomatoes or onions, bread, cheese, etc...)

- Use a perforated plate or pan for cooked poultry and meats. Never place cooked meat on a plate that had raw meat or poultry.

- Do not leave food unrefrigerated for longer than one hour because of the dangers of bacterial growth.

Taking right measures to ensure a healthy life

No matter what their lifestyles, more and more people these days are becoming aware of the importance of eating healthy, exercising regularly for physical fitness—as well as mental health—and getting the right amount of sleep. Still others are quitting smoking, even alcohol consumption, to help prolong their lives.

Good health is something often taken for granted, but realizing that you are not indestructible and that your health can fail you at any time can spur you to make drastic lifestyle changes.

Consider these tips for staying in shape all year long:

- If you don't already belong to a health club or exercise program, sign up now. Not only will you sleep better, feel better and suffer fewer colds and illnesses as a result, but many gyms and clubs run summer membership specials that could prove a substantial cost savings to you.

- Just because it's summer, don't neglect those cool, crisp and green meals that energized and refreshed you all summer long. Make a delicious salad using different types of lettuce—iceberg, endive, watercress, arugula. And keep your refrigerator stocked with fruit.

- If you've never had a cholesterol blood test to check the levels of cholesterol in your blood, you might want to ask your doctor about it on your next visit. High levels may be inherited, but in most cases they are due to a diet high in saturated fats. Don't develop bad eating habits, cut down on alcohol consumption and quit smoking as well for a healthier heart.

- Don't exercise without warming up first. A good warm-up regimen consists of movement simply to get the joints and muscles working. Arm circling done with your feet wide apart and your arms loose, or side bends with feet wide apart and your hands on your hips, are all good and promote agility and good posture.

- Walking for fitness can be incorporated into busy days or on lunch hours. It requires only comfortable shoes and clothing. Take along your dog, or a cassette player, headphones and your favorite stimulation music.

- Replenish your body with plenty of liquids, especially when exercising. Drinking lots of water will not only cleanse your body of toxins but will retain the moisture balance in your skin.

Incorporating a healthy regimen into your daily routine involves some time management, planning and flexibility on your part.

Challenging your body in new and different ways will help you develop to your maximum potential and be the very best you can be.

Senior transportation services offered

Need a ride to Good Shepherd Hospital? People age 55 and older and in need of transportation to the Good Shepherd Hospital campus or any of the hospital's offsite locations, their problems may be over.

Good Shepherd Hospital's Older Adult Service s offers transportation services for senior citizens (ages 55 and older). The new service is being provided for the convenience of individuals who need to use Good Shepherd Hospital facilities for cardiac rehabilitation, outpatient testing, day surgery, oncology treatment, psychiatric day programs, physical therapy, physician appointments, to visit a patient or to attend a Good Shepherd community education program. The bus route includes the Good Shepherd Hospital campus, doctor's office building, Smith professional building, Good Shepherd Manor and the Barrington Park District.

The bus service provides transportation for seniors throughout the Good Shepherd service area. The bus service is available Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. and costs $4 per ride/each way, round trip from an individual's home to the Good Shepherd Hospital campus and other sites. The service is wheelchair accessible. At least 24 hours notice is required for pick-up. To make a reservation for the bus and for areas of service, please call 800-995-4267.

Some dance the night away...others top the evening off with a little whipped cream. And when they're not dancing or eating, residents of Hawthorn Lakes are playing hundreds of hands of bridge, pinocle and poker...bowling thousands of frames, sharpening their putting or taking 3-5 day trips.

And some are gathered around the piano singing a few old favorites.

One- and two-bedroom rental apartments, with access to professional healthcare, a full-service restaurant, endless things to do, and countless friends to make.

Experts offer tips for mending broken hearts

The number one killer of Americans isn't cancer—it's heart disease. It has been since 1900 (except for 1918). According to American Heart Association Statistics, nearly 42 percent of all deaths are caused by heart disease. That's a lot of lives. And that statistic doesn't reflect the millions of Americans whose lives are adversely affected because they live with some form of the disease on a daily basis.

In Lake County, evidence of the rising number of people with heart disease is seen in the growth of cardiac health programs. The Cardiopulmonary Health Services department at Victory Memorial Hospital, for instance, was recently expanded to accommodate its increasing number of patients and program participants.

Years ago, a person diagnosed with heart disease (or someone who survived a heart attack) took precautions to take it easy, rest and not over-exert. Today, under a physician's guidance and with the help of programs offered by groups like Cardiopulmonary Health Services, people manage the disease and successfully make important heart-healthy lifestyle changes.

Victory's professional cardiopulmonary staff suggests the following guidelines for improving heart health:

Stop Smoking. According to the American Heart Association, smoking puts an added strain on your heart. It causes the blood vessels to constrict, making it more difficult for the heart to push blood through them.

Reduce Fat and Lower Cholesterol. Fats and cholesterol build up on artery walls, slowing the blood flow until arteries are completely blocked. Eating less fat also helps control weight.

Maintaining a Healthy Weight. Excess weight can make your heart work harder. Following a healthy diet and a regular exercise program helps to keep weight at an appropriate level.

Exercise Your Heart. The Public Health Service says that exercise helps muscles, including the heart, get oxygen from the blood. While routine exercise should be part of everyone's daily activity, it is recommended that you consult your physician before beginning any new exercise regimen.

Manage Stress. Stress can affect your blood pressure and your heart. Getting appropriate rest is one way to alleviate stress. Routine exercise, like walking, aerobics or joining a heart healthy workout center.

A free pamphlet, "Heart Healthy

Tips", featuring small changes you can make to your lifestyle that will improve your health is available by calling Victory Memorial Hospital's Community Relations Department at 1-800-THE-CHOICE. For information on programs and services offered by the newly expanded Cardiopulmonary Health Services, call Victory's heart health professionals at 360-4131.

As a part of the 7th Annual Midwest Animation Lecture Series, Jodi Benson, will speak about her career in acting and singing in the field of animation. Benson who is the voice of Disney's "The Little Mermaid", as well as other voices in animation, will speak about her career in this field, show rare video clips, conduct the audience question and answer period and treat the audience with several songs that she has sung in her films. The lecture will take place Saturday, Aug. 3 from 6-9 p.m. at Stay Tooned Animation Gallery located at the Arcade at 272 E. Deerpath in downtown Lake Forest. Admission is free, but reservations are recommended. Call 234-3231.

ART

Hokey Smokes!

Stay Tooned Animation Galleries has announced that "The Art of Rocky and Bullwinkle" will take place in both Stay Tooned Animation Galleries in Barrington and Lake Forest. The highlight of this exhibit is the inclusion of extremely rare original hand painted one of a kind studio production cells of Bullwinkle. Additional information on this exhibit is available by calling Jim or Tracy Lentz at 382-2357. The Art of Rocky and Bullwinkle exhibit will run through July 30 in both locations.

Watercolor exhibit

Lakes Region Watercolor Guild announces an exhibition of Lake County scenes by its members at the Lake County Museum in Wauconda. The show, entitled "Lake County Watercolor," will run through July 31. Call 362-0963 for further details.

Kids art classes

The Suburban Fine Arts Center, 1913 Sheridan Rd., Highland Park, is holding art classes for kids. Classes from wheel throwing to cartooning are offered, including two workshop: ceramics for ages 12 to 14 on Aug. 12, 14 and 16. For more details or to register, call 432-1888.

Visual Arts Center

The Waukegan Park District invites the public to visit the Waukegan Visual Arts gallery showing of paintings, drawings & photos by Brian Kent and Lani Zinn at 533 Grand. Entitled "Vacation Flora, Fauna & Fun," the exhibit displays over 60 works. The Visual Arts Center summer hours are Wednesdays, 2-5:30 and Saturdays from 2-4 p.m. You may call 625-9173 during those hours for other appointment times. Open house will be Saturday, Aug. 10, 12-4 p.m. and Sunday, Aug. 11, 12-3 p.m. and is located near downtown Waukegan on Powell Park's perimeter. Follow the blue street signs on Grand Ave. and Sherman Place.

Treasure hunt

Rodman to appear at Gurnee Mills

AMANDA MILLER

Staff Reporter

A familiar head will make a colorful appearance at Gurnee Mills July 27 when Dennis Rodman of the championship Chicago Bulls brings his multi-hued hair to the mall as part of a special show.

Rodman is appearing in conjunction with the Superexpo VI

Update, which is a sportscard, comic, memorabilia and collectibles show that travels all over the country.

The expo will feature 150 vendors of various sports memorabilia such as baseball cards and other sports items. Admission to the expo is free; Rodman autographs are available at an additional charge.

Only 500 tickets will be sold to the public. A $65 ticket includes a Rodman autograph on his book or his photo. A $85 ticket will buy the Worm's signature on anything else.

Each expo features a different celebrity, and an appearance by Rodman at this one seemed like the perfect choice.

"We always bring different celebrities... it's a really good time for Rodman since he is fresh off the championship with the Chicago Bulls," said show promoter Rich Weisman.

The Superexpo also gets a lot back from the star appearance.

"They (celebrities) bring more business into the mall and to the dealers," explained Weisman.

The show will take place on July 27, from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., and July 28 from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. To order tickets to this once in a lifetime event, call (407) 487-0258.

Lambs Farm plans foot-stomping fun

The guitars are tuned, the boots are polished and the cowboy hats are on. It's time for Lambs Farm's biggest event of the season - the US'99 Family Day Jamboree, one of the most spectacular country music events in the Chicagoland area. No one will want to miss Sunday, August 4 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at Lambs Farm. Admission and parking are free!

Performances on Lambs Farm's mainstage are scheduled as follows:

10:30 a.m., Country Roads Band; noon, Big John Howell and the US'99 Born to Boogie Band; 1:30 p.m., Mila Mason; 3 p.m. Paul Brandt; 4:30 p.m., BlackHawk.

Headlining this year is BlackHawk who comes to Lambs Farm with a #1 hit and four Top 10 singles and their brand new album Strong Enough under their belt. Known for their energy-charged shows, BlackHawk has electrified audiences across the country.

Also performing is Paul Brandt, who also has a Top 10 single, Mila Mason, Atlantic Records' leading lady, who has been performing for audiences since the age of 8 and US'99's own Big John Howell and his Born to Boogie Band.

Concession stands will be serving hamburgers, brats, chicken sandwiches, roasted corn, and much more. A variety of beverages will be available! Remember, revenue from concession sales provides vital support to the Lambs Farm men and women - no picnic baskets or coolers please.

Lambs Farm is located at the intersection of I-94 (Tri-State Tollway) and Rte. 176, two miles east of downtown Libertyville.

For more information, call Lambs Farm at 362-6774.

Hawaiian legends

PRESIDENT, NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

When you visit Hawaii, you will discover that in addition to pineapples, sugar cane and orchids, another popular "product" of these islands is authentic Polynesian legends created just for we tourists. Here is a tongue-in-cheek look at some of my favorites.

Poi is a popular food in Hawaii. It has the texture (and taste) of wallpaper paste. Here is how one legend accounts for its inclusion in the Hawaiian diet.

When Captain James Cook discovered the Hawaiian Islands in 1778, he and his crew had spend months at sea. They had run out of provisions and were near starvation. Upon coming ashore, they found a native village where the Hawaiians were mixing a large bowl of glue for sticking palm thatching to their roofs. The starving sailors mistook the glue for food, thrust their fingers into the stuff and began spooning it up shouting, "Oh Poy, Oh Poy!" to show their appreciation.

The Hawaiians were as courteous then to visitors as they are now and did not correct their honored guests. Instead, to avoid embarrassment they also began eating thatching paste, which they renamed "poi". To this day, Hawaiians still eat poi.

Another legend has to do with the traditional Hawaiian dress called the "sarong". An Italian sea captain landed in Hawaii with a halfdozen of his crew. They had a large bolt of red cloth they wanted to trade for sugar cane. They were met by a Hawaiian chieftain and his very portly native queen. The queen decided she must have the cloth. She ducked into her hut and soon emerged with the entire bolt of cloth wrapped around her. The leftover end was draped carelessly down one side.

One of the crew members, who had been a tailor back in Italy, cried in disgust, "That's-a-wrong, that's-a-wrong!" The style and the name are still popular today.

One more? O.K. A gentleman from Texas once told me the Island of Oahu where Honolulu is located was actually named by Sam Houston. "Seems that the first thing old Sam said when he saw them dancin' girls on the beach wuz 'wahoo!' and that's whut the island hez bin called ever since."

The Thirty Million Dollar Man

Remember that television show starring Lee "where is he now" Majors, the one where he played a Superman type whose body was made from robotic parts worth a million dollars? The show was called "The Million Dollar Man" back then.

Today that same show might be called "Mr. Chump Change", since a man worth only a million dollars couldn't be much of a superman these days. Not if he plays for the NBA, that is. In the NBA, we pay players that much to keep the bench warm for their wealthier teammates.

So, just what is a Superman in the NBA worth? You guessed it—$30,000,000, which is the salary Michael Jordan will now make for one year as the reigning "Superman" of the NBA.

Still, it's a fair price, at least when you consider what players who are much less photogenic are being paid these days. Patrick Ewing, for instance, makes $18.5 million a year. This despite the fact that no one wants to make commercials with little people playing sports on Patrick's head. Or Gary Payton of the Seattle

"Always a bridesmaid, never a bride" Supersonics who, although he's practically a rookie compared to Jordan, just signed a seven-year contract with the behavior, I would have asked my husband to film me during a PMS episode.

Of course, it's not a fair price when you compare Jordan's salary to that of the President of the United States, who makes only $200,000 a year despite the fact that being President is probably the toughest, most stressful and dangerous job in the country, with the possible exception of being an NBA referee who has just called a technical foul on Dennis Rodman.

And it's not a fair price if you stop and think that we, the sports-ticket buying public, are ultimately the ones who are bankrolling these exorbitant salaries for grown men to throw a ball around a basketball court. Maybe it's time for Americans, particularly in Chicago area, to go on strike. Now is the time to turn in your Bulls tickets for a refund and say, "We're broke as hell and we're not going to take it anymore!"

Because if you do, there's a chance I'll be able to get a good seat for at least one Bulls game next year. Sounds fair to me.

Sonics which will pay him in excess of $20 million a year.

And then there's Shaquille O'Neal, who is being wooed with even larger salary offers despite the fact that he can't hit the basket from more than 3 feet away. "Kazaam" is not only the name of Shaq's first big movie, it's also the sound the ball makes when it leaves his hands in search of a free throw, clanks off the rim and hits the floor.

And it's a fair price when you consider that Jim Carrey was paid $20 million to act like a raving idiot in "The Cable Guy." Heck, I know people who do that for free every day. In fact, I myself act like a raving idiot at least one day a month. If I had known there was an audience for that type of

Gen Con® Game Fair to come

An estimated 30,000 people from around the world are expected to attend this year's GEN CON® Game Fair, Thursday, August 8 through Sunday, August 11, at Milwaukee's Wisconsin Center/MECCA. The fair, which is in its 29th year, is sponsored by TSR, Inc., Lake Geneva, Wis.

This colossal event is four days of fun for the entire family. Filling two city blocks with 1,200 events, GEN CON is the largest game convention in the western hemisphere.

This year's show will feature dozens of celebrities—including Garrett "Lieutenant Harry Kim" Wang from "Star Trek Voyager"; Walter "Pavel Chekov" Koenig from "Star Trek" and "Babylon 5"; Joe Martin, creator of the

"Mr. Boffo" comic strip; Stephen R. Donaldson, "New York Times" best-selling sci-fi author; the cast from "Mystery Science Theater 3000"; Lucasfilm's Steve Sansweet with a "Star Wars" sneak preview; and dozens of fantasy artists, writers and game designers. They will be meeting fans, autographing photos, and giving project sneak previews.

The four-day event will feature more than 1,000 role-playing, card, dice, strategy, military history, miniatures, computer, video, and arcade games. In addition, the convention exhibit hall will be home to the world's largest game store with more than 225 manufacturers selling games, art, books, comics, jewelry, T-shirts and videos.

Other highlights include a $1 million art show, costume contest, medieval magicians, jugglers, musicians and sword fighters. Plus, look for superheroes, Japanese animation, theatrical performances, military seminars, and more than $15,000 in prizes.

TSR expects a record-breaking convention, so come early. Registration is $15 per day for adults or $50 for all four days. Kids ages 6-10 are $10 per day. Children under 6 are free. Daily registration begins at 7 a.m. Contact GEN CON Game Fair, phone (414) 248-3625 fax (414) 249-4600, E-mail TSRINC@AOL.COM, or call the Greater Milwaukee Convention and Visitors Bureau at 1-800-554-1448.

Cooking By The Book—Quick, knockout sauces for pasta

"While the Pasta Cooks" (MacMillan, 1996, $22) is just the ticket for busy cooks who like to save time without cutting corners.

This book, by Andrew Schloss and Ken Bookman, includes 100 sauces — from herb and meat to cheese and vegetable — that can be prepared quickly as the water boils.

We can vouch for the roasted pepper and anchovy sauce. Another, more unusual recipe from the book, is the following, which serves four.

Orange Roughy, Tomato and Orange Sauce

- 1 lb. shaped pasta (we used bow-tie)
- 2 Tbls. olive oil
- 1 large onion, chopped
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- Grated zest and juice of 1 firm orange
- 2 cups diced tomatoes, fresh or canned
- 2 Tbl. chopped fresh basil
- 1/2 lb. firm white fish fillets (such as orange roughy or catfish; we used talapia)
- salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste.

Bring a large pot of lightly salted water to a boil. Add the pasta and stir a few times to ensure that the pasta does not stick to itself. Boil vigorously for the time recommended on the pasta package or until the pasta is tender.

While the pasta cooks, heat the oil in a medium skillet over medium-high heat, add the onion and cook until softened, about 2 minutes. Add the garlic, orange zest and tomatoes and heat to a simmer. Add the basil and fish and simmer until the fish breaks into moist flakes, about 1 to 2 minutes. Do not overcook. Add the orange juice, salt and pepper.

Drain the pasta and toss it with the sauce in a serving bowl, seasoning with additional salt and pepper if needed.

Movie Pick 'Courage' is all Denzel's

Denzel Washington has the dynamite combination of good looks, a great build, and greater acting ability. He uses all of these attributes to come up with a powerful performance in his latest movie, "Courage Under Fire."

Meg Ryan

The promos for this 20th Century Fox film, directed by Edward Zwick, the co-creator of TV's "Thirty Something," and "My So Called Life," as well as the big screen's "About Last Night," and "Legends of the Fall," led us to believe that Washington and co-star Meg Ryan, not only have equal billing, but are of equal importance to the movie. Not so.

Although Ryan's character is at the center of the movie's plot, it is the life and tribulations of Desert Storm's tank commander Col Nat Serling, played by Washington, that this story is about.

His investigation into whether or not Medivac pilot Capt. Karen Walden, played by Ryan, should receive the Medal of Honor posthumously, has an effect on him and is therefore part of his story.

Washington's performance is right up there with his award-winning and critically kudoed ones in "Glory," and "Malcom X."

Ryan, who has excelled in cutesy comedy portrayals like her critically acclaimed performance in "When Harry Met Sally," and who has even gone dramatic as the alcoholic mother and wife in "When a Man Loves a Woman," turns tough in the flashbacks concerning Walden's death. But we only get to see several versions of how she died, we meet "an ordinary person in extraordinary circumstances," but we never get to know Karen Walden, the single mother, who ends up in the front lines of our latest war, not even a teensy weensy bit.

While Washington is under investigation in connection with the "friendly fire" death of some of the men in his command during a Desert Storm battle at Al Bathera, he is assigned to what seems to be a routine report which will lead to the first woman in history being awarded the nation's highest honor.

Washington, who is investigating Walden's death while under the stress of wondering if he was responsible for the death of his men, comes across completely different versions of the incident during which Walden's helicopter crashes while saving others.

The White House wants Walden to get the Medal because of its great PR possibilities. What is Washington going to do if his investigation shows Walden didn't die with valor under fire?

Lou Diamond Phillips, who is having a great year, being nominated for a Tony for the title role of "The King and I," now playing on Broadway, is one of the best villains of the year as Monfrez, one of Walden's men who claims Walden was no hero, but a coward.

A strong supporting cast that includes Scott Glenn as a reporter, and Regina Taylor from TV's "I'll Fly Away," and "Law and Order," as Washington's wife, add to the strength of one of the first really good movies to come out of the Persian Gulf War.

This is one of the best flicks of not only the summer, but of the year to date, but we can only give it four out of five stars, because it robbed us of our only chance to get to know Karen Walden not under fire - and this is important to us. "Courage Under Fire," is rated "R" because of violence and strong language.—by GLORIA DAVIS

The Navy representatives completed a video orientation session at the extension office, then walked to the 4-H building on the fairgrounds where they were teamed up with the actual judges.

The volunteers judge the 40 different categories of visual arts on Monday, then the numerous various areas such as horticulture, agriculture, health, etc., on Tuesday afternoon during another three-hour block.

The role of the volunteers is to assist the judges as recorders and to keep track of what ribbons an individual with multiple entries is receiving. This assists in the selection of grand champions, reserve champions and state fair delegates. The volunteer recorder has the privilege of actually putting the appropriate ribbon on the project.

The general basis for the judging is to look at the exhibit on its own merit, then determine if it met the pre-determined requirements (beyond the bare minimums), needs some improvement or a lot of improvement.

"The judges have the technical expertise in the various areas," Betustak explained. Most are volunteers from Lake County businesses.

The two part system of evaluating the project includes a visual review by the judge and a "conference" between the judge and the exhibitor.

During the conference, the Navy assistant will stand by, possibly take notes, and record the judge's decision as to which ribbon should be awarded.

The judge and the exhibitor will discuss various factors including how they put the display together, what information was used, their basis for their findings and what motivated them to choose that particular topic. No parents or other persons are allowed in the 4-H building during the judging process.

Exhibitors are not required to participate in the conference judging.

"It's kind of funny because most of them were nervous while they were viewing the training video," said Mary Kay Winandy, 4-H Community Worker. "Recording is, I think, the greatest and most fun job during the fair. I'm sure they'll enjoy it."

"I'm really pleased with the Navy's willingness to work with us," Winandy added.

Navy Chaplain Bob Feinberg heads the Character Development program at Naval Training Center Great Lakes.

"Young people enjoy doing things to benefit the community," Feinberg said. The program has been very popular amongst students attending the various training schools on the base.

NSSD shaves $2.1 million from fiscal 1997 operating budget

The Board of Trustees of the North Shore Sanitary District (NSSD) approved its fiscal 1997 operating budget, which has been trimmed by $2.1 million over the current fiscal year. In adopting the new budget, the Board also voted to amend the user fee ordinance, which will result in a five percent rate reduction for NSSD's approximately 55,000 customers effective Aug. 1.

General Manager Gene Lukasik noted that the NSSD has not increased its user fee since Aug. 1, 1987, despite a 34 percent increase in the inflation rate over the past nine years. The user fee was initially implemented by the District on Jan. 1, 1983.

Lukasik said customers may not see the rate reduction reflected in their bills immediately because the user fee is determined by the date the service is rendered. For example, a customer may receive a bill in August, but it may be for service rendered in June and will be billed at the old rate. The next bill may be for service rendered during July, August and September, in which case the bill will be split between the old and new rates.

The Board was able to adopt the proposed $17.1 million budget-scaled down from $19.25 million in fiscal 1996 because of an overall decrease in operating costs. Lukasik said the NSSD re-negotiated a new contract with ComEd that effectively reduced its utility rates by approximately 19 percent. In addition, he said automation of NSSD's Waukegan wastewater treatment facility resulted in additional energy savings and a reduction in personnel.

"Automation eliminates some of the problems we experienced in the past. It exercises the pumps, rotates the equipment, maintains wet well levels. It does a lot of things that don't become important in

Lukasik said automation has reduced the Waukegan facility from a seven day, three staff/four shift operation to a five day, two staff/two shift operation, with the facility operating totally unmanned over the weekends (except for a guard). He said this has saved the NSSD over $300,000 in overtime dollars alone. And as the NSSD's attrition program begins to unfold, he said it will eventually reduce personnel even further.

Reorganization of the NSSD's Operations and Maintenance Division also led to a reduction in management and unnecessary overhead, according to Lukasik. "It's not that we managed the plants badly before, because that's not true. But if you run this place like a public agency with deep pockets, you look at it one way. If you run this place like it's your own business, you look at it differently. What we did was ask our people to take a step back and look at things differently. We put these two groups together and had them focus on a common goal, and I think that's been very effective."

Lukasik stated that operating costs should continue to spiral down in the future, due to upcoming improvements at both the Gurnee and Clavey Road wastewater treatment facilities.

Founded in 1914, the NSSD is the second largest sanitary district in Illinois. Its boundaries extend from Lake Michigan west to the I-294 tollway and from Lake-Cook Road north to the Wisconsin state line. It operates three wastewater treatment facilities located in Waukegan, Gurnee and Highland Park (Clavey Road), where it treats a total average of 43 million gallons of water per day. In addition, it operates a 200-acre solid waste landfill facility in Newport Township.

Crash

Immediately he turned onto Fish Lake Road, parked and ran to the scene to assist.

"There was nobody around. I came to the red car and asked if everybody was okay. Then I heard someone groaning down in the creek," Squires explained.

Several yards away, and walking through some water up to twelve inches deep, Squires found James Marsh of Wheeling.

Marsh was lying on his back in several inches of water. He had been a back seat passenger who upon impact was ejected from Clybor's vehicle.

Squires who held Marsh's head up out of the water, said he did not want to move the victim. Another man came and threw a blanket over Marsh to keep him from going into shock.

Wauconda and the Round Lake Area fire protection districts had rescue squads on the scene, and the Flight for Life helicopter was called. Fox Lake Fire Department also showed up and transported one of the victims to a hospital.

Lake County Sheriff's police re-routed traffic while the crews worked to extract some of the patients trapped in the vehicles.

Marsh was taken to the Northern Illinois Medical Center (NIMC) in McHenry, and as of Monday was listed in fair condition.

Another passenger in Clybor's car was Akash Pathak of Buffalo Grove who was taken to NIMC, treated and released. Gabor Mezaros of Wheeling was also riding in Clybor's car, and was the patient flown to Lutheran General Hospital by helicopter. On Monday he was listed in fair condition by hospital staff.

Deborah Zentmyer was taken to Condell Medical Center in Libertyville where she was reported in serious condition, and in the center's intensive care unit early this week.

The two drivers Joseph Zentmyer and Clybor were both treated and released for different hospitals.

"At least three accidents happen here a year," Jim VanDyke stated. Ironically, crosses, dried flower wreaths and a stuffed teddy bear lines the same guard rail the two cars smashed into—reminders of past fatalities at the intersection.

Charges are pending, according to police.

SPOTLIGHT: Yan's Hunan Inn

Location:

100 N. Milwaukee Ave., Libertyville & 911 Lakehurst Rd., Waukegan

Telephone:

(847)473-1660 - Waukegan

Hours:

11 a.m. to 10 p.m., Sunday through Thursday, and 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. on Friday and Saturday.

Menu:

Traditional Chinese fare including chow mein, chop suey, egg foo young, lo mein, fried rice, sweet sour chicken, seafood, dishes - pork and lamb dishes, plus spicy dishes including sliced prawns with garlic sauce, Hunan beef, General Ching's chicken, etc.

Enjoy great Chinese food at Yan's two locations

Yan's Hunan Inn is "the" place to go when you are craving Chinese food in Lake County. Luncheon specials, family dinners, combination plates, and formal entrees combine to make a veritable feast for diners.

Lunch begins at 11 a.m. at Yan's Hunan Inn. The restaurants boast 20 specials which include hot and spicy dishes, meatless dishes, and old-time favorites. All specials include a choice of hot and sour, wonton, or egg drop soup, and are served with white rice.

Combination plates feature a choice of soup, and are served with fried rice and an egg roll. Spare ribs, sweet and sour pork or chicken, beef chop suey, chicken or pork egg foo young, and shrimp with lobster sauce are just of few of the featured items.

There is a huge selection of dinner delights to choose from. Several of the dishes are hot and spicy, but Yan's Hunan Inn will alter the spice according to your taste. House dinners cost $15.95 per person and include a glass of house wine, soup, an appetizer, a choice from 13 main entrees, and dessert.

The sliced beef with scallions is absolutely delicious and the flowery chicken is out-of-this-world. Some of the spicy dishes include sliced prawns with garlic sauce, the Hunan beef, lamb with spicy and tangy sauce, and General Ching's chicken. For dessert, try the stuffed honey banana that comes with the meal.

Families are not left out at Yan's Hunan Inn. This great bargain costs $11 per person and includes from one to three main course selections with many sides. Families are offered a choice of soup, appetizers, and for dessert, an almond cookie.

Yan's has a number of house specialties priced from $7.95 to $15.95. The "Sizzling Three Musketeers" includes fresh scallops, sliced prawns and beef served with assorted vegetables prepared in the chef's special sauce and served on a hot plate. The house special beef, one of the spicier selections, is deep fried tender sliced beef that is crispy on the outside and tender in the middle. The beef is sautéed with orange peels, and has a sweet and spicy flavor.

The restaurant also offers more traditional Chinese fare.

In rebuttal

I'm calling in rebuttal to "Take a stand." I'd like to let these people know that Wal-mart was there and you know Wal-mart was there. This is the suburbs, not the city. We don't have one-way streets. If you don't like where you live, you can move.

Debt of gratitude

This is a story that I want your readers to know. My wife and I were visiting her sister in Georgia and we were on our way to the airport in Atlanta to return home. We had an 8 a.m. flight to O'Hare Airport. We left the house at 6 a.m. and on our way the car stopped and would not start; the battery went dead. We were miles away yet from the airport. We saw a store that was lit, and my nephew went to call his father. In the meantime, a car pulls up and this gentleman came and said, "You folks need help?" He took control, helped get the car off the road, went home to tell his wife he was helping us, took all the luggage and put it in his car and took all of us to the airport. We got there at 7:05 a.m. He pulled up right to the dock and hugged and kissed my wife good luck. He wouldn't take any money. We will always remember this gentleman and wherever he is, God bless him! P.S. We made the flight by three minutes.

Thanks, Board

Thank you, board of education in Grayslake District 46, you had the foresight and courage to remove Carolyn Hendricks as principal of Lakeview School. I'm sure it's never an easy or pleasant job when you have to recognize and deal with an employee's inadequacies. Be assured that you acted in the best interest of the school. Don't let a few mothers hoodwink you into thinking you've done it a disservice. Let's all get past this unpleasant task. We have a new school year before us.

Hooray!

Hooray for District 46 board of education. Four more teachers were hired at the July 1 board meeting, reducing class sizes. It remains to be seen if the board keeps their promise to the community who overwhelmingly voted yes, passing a referendum for class sizes averaging 25 or less.

A blast

This message is to the city of Wauconda. I'd like to thank them for their fireworks, it was truly an undescrivable treat.

Wrong name

What kind of idiot do you have in sports? I read a headline saying "Bill Beman gets a job as CLC women coach." Everybody knows it's Bill Braman. What's wrong with the sports staff?

Editor's Note: The correct spelling is Braman. Lakeland Newspapers regrets the error.

Suckered again

Well, citizens of Round Lake, they did it to us again. Once more we got suckered in with the "Invest in our future, help our kids;" "We need more and better schools;" "Our children need..." and so on. We gave them what they said was needed for our children, but would someone please tell me what the kids got? They got 20 administrators whose fat wallets got a 5 percent raise, but who are these administrators? I'd like them to let us know a little about themselves. Since I'm guessing you make three times more than I, I'd like to know why I should feel good about your raise. I don't know, because you won't tell me exactly where our tax dollars are going. This may well be your last chance...the last one I'll give you, anyhow!

Bad decision

I'm calling in response to the person who, while sitting on the shores of Bangs Lake, said the Wauconda Village Board made a good decision to make the cove a no-wake zone. If that person had been driving a boat in the cove, he or she would have quickly realized the cove has too much boat traffic to be a safe place for swimmers. The Illinois Dept. of Public Health mandates that all beaches have highly visible ropes that mark off the swimming area. Boats traveling even at no-wake speed can mutilate and kill a swimmer. People should be advised to swim at one of the several public beaches in town that mark their swimming areas.

No more

I'm calling in response to the message of "Money and power in Wauconda" that appeared in Lipservice June 14. I agree with the caller that Mayor Eschenbach has a lot of work to do paying off all the building contractors and his political friends. He's been doing a good job, just look at all the new houses going up. Do we want another four years of this? I don't think so!

Something's wrong

This is to all the residents in the Round Lake School District. I'm so glad you passed the referendum to give Mary Davis a 5 percent raise each year. Did you know she's making $103,541, including a teacher's retirement, and now she's going to get more? Do you make that much money? Did you also know that Round Lake has a higher tax rate than Lake Forest? The taxes are getting out of control. Something's wrong.

Save water

Although we had a lot of good rain and we certainly needed it, I'd like to remind some of the homeowners See LIPSERVICE page B23 to save their water. We should conserve water. Cut your grass longer. If you cut it longer, it shelters the roots and you need less water and only have to water really well once a week.

Good timing

I noticed in the newspaper that the county board has suspended the purchase of the latest example of a logo that would have cost all of us $104,000. It goes to show that during election years, board members won't vote on expenditures that have public pressure against it. If this would have happened a year ago with no election, it would have gone through. I'm glad they have, for once, seen the light.

No democracy

While observing the tenure of defeated county board chairman Bob Depke over the past four or five years, I've come to the conclusion that not only does he own his supporters, but his opposition. When the opposition speaks up, they do so to make it look like there's a democracy in the county board. There's certainly no democracy. This is how he operates. Defeat should teach him that you cannot and should not control people.

Let's talk

Hey, "Bad behavior," in July 12 Lipservice. I dispute the fact that Hal Berger represents the most negative, destructive parents in the community. The caller either has not been to too many board meetings, or is a blind follower of our current administration. I've been a part of this school district for years, and since the start of Doc Hoc, we've never been in such a negative, back-stabbing frame of mind. All you followers, open your eyes. You're not the majority, but the minority. The six women you mentioned in your comments all presented positive change. Were you so busy being one of the people talking during the presentations that you didn't hear a word they had to say? Next time, why don't you be quiet and listen.

Thanks forgotten

Excuse me, "Thanks, Joan," but you thanked Doc Hoc for the new school. You forgot to thank the community who voted yes for that school. You also thanked her for smaller class sizes. You forgot to thank the countless parents who stood up against Doc Hoc and the board when they passed classroom sizes of 29 just recently.

Do something

I've been reading Lipservice for a few months and I'm sick and tired of people complaining about their villages and communities. The newspaper won't do a damn thing. Go to your village halls and complain to the mayor and the people you pay taxes for. We need more people to get together as a community and go to the village halls and complain. Don't call in to a newspaper, nobody from the government is going to read it.

Not neighborly

We have a new neighbor. Not only is he trying to take our property, but he's copied our landscaping design and has the nerve to be rude. I find it unbelievable the way these young people are today.

Check your facts

In regard to the comments in Lipservice of July 12 about St. Joseph's School's tuition collection, someone should check their facts. After contacting the school's office and seeing the financial report with my very own eyes, I know that 96.4 percent tuition was collected and the school finished this year under budget. Those very few who haven't paid their tuition in full can only return the following year with the pastor's permission. If anyone has any questions, they should have called the office.

Either/or situation

To the people of Wauconda, would you rather have a new sewage system that may prevent flooding, or the building of new homes that Mayor Eschenbach wants. I hope the mayor reads this and does something about future flooding. He needs to do something to make up for the lackluster performance of the past three-and-a-half years. To say he's done a poor job as mayor would be kind.

Got skeletons?

This is to "No rights" from the July 12 issue. You're one of those people who complains once when you think the police officer isn't doing his job but throws a fit if they are inconveniencing you. However, you'll be the first to call them for help. I respect the officers for protecting us and keeping us safe. One less drunk off the road is a blessing. Wait until you lose someone dear to you to a drunk. The only people who don't like police are ones who have something to hide. Grow up!

By the way...

This is in reference to "Bad behavior." I hardly call Hal Berger's offering a viewpoint which differs from the viewpoint of Doc Hoc and Doc Clark bad behavior. As long as you brought up the subject, let's talk about the disrespect Hal's fellow board members showed him during that meeting you're referring to. I exclude Peter Hefernan from my comments which follow: the rolling of the eyes, the side comments, the whispering to one another while Hal was talking, was appalling. Before you accuse people of bad behavior, look in the mirror.

Get us in

I'm calling because I'm looking at the July 12 issue and I agree with "What about us?" We at the Grant Twp. Area Athletic Association, our baseball teams in this area, have tried numerous times to get information in to the Lakeland Press about

HOROSCOPE

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You're persuasive, charming and articulate this week. You also know how to put your ideas across effectively, especially to bigwigs. Dealings with agents, publishers, advisers and educators are favored. However, don't neglect your rest.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) A slight disappointment early in the week arises in connection with a personal matter. What you'd hoped would happen doesn't. However, the signing of contracts is favored. Favorable dealings with advisers are also in the stars.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) In many ways, this is a good week for you, but you could be going too fast on a business matter. Slow down and examine each step before you take it. Cultural and non-material interests are favored over career concerns this weekend.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Judgment is very good about financial interests and you could be shopping for some new possessions toward the middle of the week. In business, you meet with opportunities to get ahead. This bodes well for the future.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) You're quite the social butterfly this week and love every minute of it. An important opportunity could come in connection with a friendship. Later in the week, though, you could be slightly on the cantankerous side.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Although love and romance are highlighted this week, you still could get into a tiff over an intimate concern. The good outweighs the bad, so don't be overly concerned about this. Let the situation burn itself out.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) There's a small moment this week where it seems someone close to you is envious, but otherwise, it's a great time for getting together with others and for having fun and exciting good times. This satisfies the gregarious part of you.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) It's steady progress for you this week on the job. An investment opportunity could arise in connection with this. Home interests are highlighted, but be careful of arguments and impatience, particularly over the weekend.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Apply yourself to the job at hand this week and put aside worry about domestic interests. Extra drive will get you where you want to go. This weekend, financial decisions are definitely favored.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Others are more than willing to meet you halfway, so there's no need to push your weight around. Contractual matters and partnership interests are highlighted toward the end of the week. Those around you are in a cooperative mood.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) You see things on a long-range basis now and will be taking some important steps to put yourself in a better position careerwise. Try, though, to stay on top of what must be tended to immediately.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) You should take the lead early in the week in making important phone calls. Your initiative serves you well. Creative interests are favored over socializing with others over the weekend.

Cherry Corporation founder retires after 43 years

The Cherry Corporation founder, Walter L. Cherry retired last month, after 43 years with the firm as its chairman and president. Cherry has been serving the company as a director and consultant since 1993.

Cherry Electric Products Corporation was founded by Walter Cherry in 1953 in nearby Highland Park, with just 11 employees. By the end of the first business year, the company was on its way to becoming known for its first product, the snap action switch—now generically referred to by many engineers and designers as “the Cherry switch.”

For its fiscal year ended February 29, the Cherry Corporation had worldwide net sales of $425 million for a wide variety of products. There are now 4,200 employees.

To compete in what would become a rapidly growing global marketplace, Cherry led the company into expanding its developing assortment of products as well as into facilities moves offshore as well as at home.

In 1955, expanding business made it necessary for the company to build its own plant in Highland Park. After numerous additions to this facility, Cherry Electrical Products outgrew it. Then in 1970, the company built and moved to its current headquarters office and plant complex in Waukegan. The Waukegan property is now in its seventh expansion.

Cherry Electrical's first expansion came in the early 1960s, when it was deemed important to participate in the then awakening overseas markets. Licensee distributors in England and Australia were established, and in 1964, the company founded in West Germany what has become its largest operation, Cherry Mikroschalter GmbH. In 1977, Cherry Semiconductor Corporation was established to address the burgeoning semiconductor industry.

Today the company has eight wholly owned subsidiaries in the United States, Germany, England, France, Australia, Czech Republic, and Hong Kong. Cherry also has 50-50 joint ventures in Japan, Hirose Cherry Precision Co., Ltd., and in India, Cherry Private, Ltd., and a Japanese automotive sales engineering office.

The Cherry Corporation is a multi-national, multi-product developer, manufacturer and marketer of proprietary and custom precision switches, sensors, electronic key-boards, displays and semiconductors serving the original equipment market. The company has manufacturing, engineering and sales management facilities in Waukegan, E. Greenwich, RI; Germany, England, France, Hong Kong, Japan and Australia. The corporate headquarters are in Waukegan.

Personalized sitting service pampers pets

MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Staff Reporter

With more and more two-income households in which both husband and wife are away from home much of the day, what to do with an unattended family pet becomes a question. Pampered Pets Sitting Service has the answer.

Founded by Tammy Rasmussen in 1993, the pet care service is headquartered in her Millburn historic home on Rte. 45.

"I kept bringing home strays and giving money to animal rights activists groups," explained the mother of three who is expecting a fourth child in February. "My husband said I'd have to find a way to make money with helping animals instead of it just costing us money."

"With three children, I knew I wouldn't have time to go to veterinary school," said Rasmussen, whose family has two dogs, three cats, a lizard and fish. "After becoming a certified animal care specialist, I offered to volunteer at Highland Park Animal Hospital and ended up being offered a job there on Saturdays."

Clients of the service range from a man who owns his own business to commuters who work downtown and are gone from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. Clients from Abbott and Baxter Laboratories account for 40 percent of Rasmussen's business, along with employees of other major corporations headquartered in the Lake County area.

In addition, people who are called out of town on short notice, such as stewardesses, and persons who have to attend occasional conferences for anywhere from a day to a week or weekend take advantage of the service. Rasmussen even has a member of the Newman-Haas Indy Car race team as a client who is gone for several days to a week depending upon the location of the event.

One-quarter of Rasmussen's clients come from veterinarians' referrals; others see the sign at their home/office in Millburn, and neighbors began telling friends and relatives. A third customer source is the phone book, although Rasmussen is disappointed the company keeps listing the business under animal boarding.

"We're not a boarding service," she stressed. "Far from it."

Rasmussen, as a certified animal caretaker, is qualified to administer medications and handle special needs animals. "We have a lot of diabetic cats and older dogs," she explained.

See PETS page C3

Pets can travel in style

MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Staff Reporter

For the retired elderly couple who no longer drives, or the commuting or double-income family working all day, getting a family pet to the veterinarian for an appointment can be a challenge.

In comes K-9 Limo of Waukegan. Jennie Worthing, "retired" from American International Hospital, began to offer pet transportation in 1990.

While working part-time for a woman who handles dogs and runs a kennel, Worthing was asked to transport dogs to the airport from time to time, or to the vet.

"I decided since I was doing this so often, and I could not just sit still around the house, I might as well start up a business," Worthing, who breeds and raises Australian terriers herself, put fliers together and passed them out in veterinarian offices.

"I offer to drive pets to the vet's office and back, or I'll even stay with them if the people want me to," she said, adding she also transports the owners with their pet at times.

"I'm not in it to make a lot of money," Worthing continued, noting most of her clients are either elderly people or commuters who are not able to take the pet themselves. "I mostly do it to help people who can't get their pet to where they want it to go."

Although most of the pets Worthing has transported are dogs, she has taken and is very willing to take cats. Wild animals would not be accepted.

"Usually, I have at least two crates in my car and a cart if the animal is too heavy to carry," Worthing said.

Jerry's Parkway files Chapter 11

TINA L. SWIECH
Staff Reporter

Jerry's Parkway supermarket in Fox Lake is reopened after being closed for two days due to an IRS seizure.

"We filed bankruptcy as a legal maneuver to get the IRS off our backs," store owner Jerry Ming said. "We filed in court to give the IRS a stay. We are not going bankrupt. I see no merit in using that word (bankrupt)."

Jerry Ming, the owner of two grocery stores and three banquet facilities in Lake County said his attorney was in a Federal Court in Chicago Tuesday filing against what he believes was unfair IRS action.

According to the IRS, and confirmed through the U.S. District Court bankruptcy branch in Chicago, Jerry's Parkway Foods filed Chapter 11 bankruptcy July 23. According to the courts' spokesperson, Chapter 11 is a "reorganization" type bankruptcy which means a business could be re-opened.

By Wednesday, Jerry's Parkway was released from the IRS seizure. Ming blames the forceful closing on "an over-zealous IRS agent."

The store owner explained he had encountered "a problem" with a Wisconsin corporation. "We had some taxes due, and we were paying those taxes," said Ming.

Ming owns and operates Jerry's Parkway Foods in Fox Lake and Grayslake as well as three banquet facilities.

The store owner said he was happy to announce both the Fox Lake store and the Grayslake store will continue operations as usual, as well as his banquet facilities in Ingleside, Round Lake Beach and Antioch.

'Little Hands' break ground for child development center

Complete with shovels and pails, 10 children of employees at the Allstate Insurance Company joined Jerry Choate, chairman and chief executive officer, at a ground breaking ceremony celebrating the company's first on-site child development center at Allstate's Northbrook headquarters.

"Today, we are not only breaking ground," said Choate. "We are gaining ground on the issue of quality care and learning for our employees; children. We have been looking at this issue for several years. With the help of an employee task force, we have been able to take our work-family commitment one step further."

company," said Roger Brown, co-founder and chairman of Bright Horizons. "It's a tool that can directly impact a company's productivity."

Allstate's Little Hands Child Development Center will accommodate 186 children from infant care through school age, and is scheduled to open in early 1997. The center will also offer special holiday and vacation programs, summer camp and emergency backup care.

"The goal," said Choate, "is to work with Bright Horizons to offer flexibility and to customize service based on the needs of our employees."

Allstate's new on-site child development center is in keeping with Allstate's role as one of the nation's corporate leaders in work family programs for employees.

Allstate is also one of the Chicago-area "champion" companies that make the American Business Collaboration for Quality Dependent Care. The collaboration is a group of U.S. corporations that have committed to sharing expertise and resources to improve dependent care options for their employees.

In 1995, for the fourth consecutive year, Allstate was named to Working Mother magazine's list of 100 best companies for working mothers.

Minding your own business — Business etiquette never out of style

DON TAYLOR
Correspondent

"Manners make the fortune of the ambitious youth." - Ralph Waldo Emerson

On your quest for personal excellence you need to know that good manners and courtesy have never gone out of style. However, I often see professional business men and women bending or ignoring the rules of etiquette.

For the record, I certainly do not hold myself out as the "Mr. Manners" of business etiquette. However, I'd like to be remembered after my death as a courteous, well-mannered person, who was equally nice and successful. Therefore, I write this column both to learn and inform.

Table tactics

We live in the age of power breakfasts, working lunches and business dinners. Consequently, understanding proper dining etiquette is a good place to start.

Begin any meal by placing the napkin in your lap. This makes room for the meal to be placed in front of you. Frequently, when seated banquet style, you have to address the question of "which drinking glass and coffee cup are mine?" Your glass and cup are located on your right. A memory guide is "right is right."

Another frequent dilemma is the proper silverware to use for each course. The rule is to work your way inward. Start on the outside and move through the line-up of forks and spoons toward the plate.

Wait to begin eating until everyone at your table is served. Once the meal is underway, heed your mother's advice. Keep your elbows off the table, don't talk with your mouth full, and chew with your mouth closed. (chewing with your mouth closed is required for chewing gum, too.)

If you are a spirited conversationalist and don't want to miss out on the repartee, take small bites. Storing partially chewed food in the side of your mouth and talking around it is common, but not polite.

Cut meat by holding it in place with your fork and wielding the knife with your other hand. Cut one or two pieces at a time and lay the knife on the plate between cuts.

Cut sandwiches in half with your knife and eat with your fingers. Tear bread into halves or quarters, butter and eat individually. It is proper to reach for anything within arm's length.

Get a Grip

First impressions are enhanced by proper introductions and a good, firm handshake. To introduce yourself, say: "Hello, I'm (your name)."

Introduce those of lower rank or station to those of higher rank or station. For example, "Your Highness, may I present James Brown," or "Mr. President, this is John Smith." If titles are unimportant in the introduction, say the woman's name or the elder person's name first, then the name of the other person. To introduce your spouse, give his or her name first, such as "Mary, I want you to meet Tom Black. Tom, this is my wife."

Introductions should be accompanied with a proper handshake. This is an accepted American business custom. There are three basic elements in an appropriate handshake. It should be firm, brief and accompanied with a smile.

A firm handshake is neither crushing nor limp. Apply just enough pressure to show you are sincere. Be observant of the elderly who may have arthritis or other frailties. The good handshake is brief and does not linger. Squeeze, shake and release. The accompanying smile needs no explanation.

If you would like to learn more about everyday etiquette, read "Miss Manners' Guide to Excruciatingly Correct Behavior" by Judith Martin or "Letitia Baldrige's Complete Guide to Executive Manners." Both books are sound guides for developing personal excellence. Don Taylor is the co-author of "Up Against the Wal-Marts." Readers may write to him in care of "Minding Your Own Business," PO Box 67, Amarillo, TX 79105.

The traveling Gypsy Moths do threaten Illinois trees

It is true. They gypsy moth does threaten our trees in Illinois. During the past years, state and federal agencies such as the Illinois Department of Agriculture, the USDA Forest Service and USDA Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service have done a tremendous job in keeping this insect at bay. Remember, the first gypsy moth was captured in Illinois back in 1973. Eradication efforts have restricted this insect from spreading since those early infestations.

Today, however, mass infestation looms near. Even though the number of moths trapped in Illinois during 1995 was only about half of the number trapped in 1994 (2,138 vs. 4,672) large populations can be found in Wisconsin. A definite threat exists if travelers from the Chicago Metro area bring gypsy moths back with them from Wisconsin. Door, Sheboygan, Oconto and Marinette counties in Wisconsin are heavily infested with gypsy moth. In Door county alone, over 34,000 moths were trapped last year. While female moths cannot fly, and the caterpillars can only crawl short distances, the insect can "hitch-hike" long distances on vehicles.

The female moth will lay their eggs on anything. Cars, trailers, recreational vehicles and camping gear are targeted while families are camping in infested areas. When the campers return home after a weekend in the woods, the egg masses come home with them. As the gypsy moth population climbs in Wisconsin, the chances of weekend travelers bringing egg masses back to Chicago will increase dramatically.

What can we do? First, carefully search your vehicle and camping equipment after vacationing in infested areas of Wisconsin or Michigan. This is most critical if you vacation during the time when the eggs are laid, usually during July and August.

Remove and crush caterpillars, cocoons, or eggs that you find. Campgrounds in infested areas will have information on what to look for. If federal or state inspectors wish to look at your vehicle, please cooperate with them. It may result in a slight delay, but it could save literally thousands of Illinois trees from defoliation.

$1,000 REWARD

ON OUR FABULOUS 955 COMPACT TRACTOR

Some equipment shown is optional

Plus low 9.5% APR financing for 48 months***

Our dealership and John Deere are joining forces to make buying a new 955 even more rewarding than normal. Buy anytime before October 30, 1996, and we'll knock $1,000 off the purchase price of our best-selling compact. The 955 features mechanical front-wheel drive and a 33-hp, 3-cylinder diesel engine. Patented two-pedal hydrostatic drive with 2-range transaxle. Independent live PTO. Hydrostatic power steering for superb handling. Plus unexcelled parts delivery and service. Not to mention the quickest implement hookup times in the business. See us today and save on a John Deere.

*Subject to approved credit. For commercial-use installment credit purchases, a 20 percent minimum down payment is required. For (consumer) purchases, a 10 percent down payment is required, and a $0.50 per month minimum finance charge may be applied to unpaid balances.

—Ask DON GARLITS— 'Squishy' brake sound can indicate a leak

Q. We drive a 1994 Mercury Grand Marquis. Can you tell me what would cause a squishy sound every time I depress the brake pedal? The brakes work fine and it seems like the sound is coming from the pedal. The dealer fixed it once by replacing the master cylinder and doing some "R&R" work. It remained quiet for six months, then the noise returned. The master cylinder was replaced first week, but this time it didn't eliminate the noise. Is this normal, as the dealer is telling me? Bob P.

A. The squishy sound you hear is the "power brake canister." Usually it indicates a slight leak, so you should probably be prepared to replace the unit at some point. The master cylinder will not cause the noise unless the travel of the brake pedal is more than it should be. Since the noise persisted after the master cylinder was repaired the second time, I think the booster canister is at fault and should be replaced now. There aren't many noises I would consider normal in a luxury vehicle, no matter what the dealer says.

Q. I am part-time shade tree mechanic. Recently, while trying to tackle what I thought would be a simple enough front-end problem, I got myself in a jam. I tried to rebuild the front suspension on my daughter's 1970 Mustang. I was told that replacing the tie rods would be a simple job, but I can't seem to get them back into adjustment. Do you have any ideas? They appear simple to adjust, but maybe I'm overlooking something. Bill F.

A. You are right about the job being simple, Bill, but I'll bet you overlooked a "trade secret." As each side is done, you should remove the old tie rod ends and adjusted sleeve as a single unit. Then you can assemble the new sets and extend them to the approximate length of the old ones. By doing this, the front-end toe-in will be fairly close. Whether you did this or not, the car needs to go into an alignment shop to get the set-up exactly back to specs. Don't be too hard on yourself. You probably aren't going to get them much closer without the assistance of a trained professional and the right equipment.

Q. My 1989 Buick Riviera with 54,000 miles has been giving me problems. It's driven mainly on the highway. Two years ago, on a trip to Florida, I put the headlights on high beam while passing and the lights flickered on and off. I immediately put them on low beam, where they continued to flicker two or three times. The car was checked immediately and the dimmer switch was replaced. I thought all was well until I recently drove at night, which I don't do very often. Well, this year, on another trip to Florida it happened again. After this, we opted to restrict our trip to daylight driving only. Nothing was found wrong with the car, even though one headlamp was replaced. Do you have any ideas? My wife is afraid even to accompany me on trips that have us returning anytime near dusk. Help. Gil R.

A. I wish I could. Clearly there's a short or loose connection somewhere in the system, but it would be impossible to trace without actually seeing the car. Even if I could, I must confess, the wiring of these newer cars is somewhat complicated for us "novices." I'm surprised the dealer couldn't pinpoint the problem. Take it back and tell them they should be embarrassed. If they still can't find it, try an independent garage with electronic diagnostic equipment. I'm sure they would love the business.

"Big daddy" Don Garlits answers technical questions of general interest on automobiles, but cannot make personal replies. His answers are intended to point out possible solutions to problems and may not apply in every case. Send your questions to Don Garlits, in care of this newspaper.

Rotate tires for maximum tread life

Footwear experts tell us our shoes would last a lot longer if we could switch them from foot to foot periodically. Because we can't do that our heels and soles wear down on one side or the other, necessitating more frequent visits to the shoe repair shop.

Similarly, our car's tires tend to wear somewhat unevenly even when the wheels are properly aligned. This is due to idiosyncrasies of the road and, to a lesser extent, of the vehicle. Tread life can be increased by as much as 50% when tires are rotated and balanced regularly, according to the Car Care Council. As an additional preventive measure, even when tread wear looks normal, have the car checked on an alignment rack at least once a year, even more often than that if much of the vehicle's miles are on rough roads or if the wheels suffer repeated encounters with curbs.

Note: Most front wheel drive and some late model rear wheel drive cars require four wheel alignment.

Beyond the above services, plus a monthly check for proper inflation, periodic inspection of steering and suspension components can prevent trouble. In its pamphlet on this subject the Council emphasizes the importance of good shock absorbers for proper ride control and maximum tire wear.

For a free copy of their ride control brochure, send a stamped self-addressed envelope to Car Care Council, Department RC, One Grande Lake Drive, Port Clinton, OH 43452.

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Q: Dear...Search: I have been offered a job with a company in Lake County recently and was told by the employer that I will need to bring in a copy of my Social Security card and Birth Certificate on the first day. While I am not scheduled to start work until the 1st of February, my problem is that I was born out of the United States during the time my father was stationed overseas and am unable to obtain a copy of my certificate of birth. I was told by a friend that there is a place in Chicago to get a copy of this. Do you know the name or address and telephone number? Thank you. S.M.M. - Libertyville.

A: Dear S.M.M. The place you are referring to in Chicago is the Cook County Courthouse, where one can obtain a certified copy of their Birth Certificate only if they were born within Cook County. So in your case...this will not help. I have, however, found with much checking that in order for you to obtain a certified copy of a report of birth involving a U.S. Citizen which has taken place overseas, it is necessary for you to first write to:
Passport Services,
1425 "K" Street,
Room 386 N.W.,
Washington, D.C. 20522-1705

I am told that you will need to include a certified check or money order payable to that company in the amount of $10.00, as well as a list including your full name, birthdate, place of birth, your parents' full names at the time of birth and their citizenship. It will also be necessary for you to show your signature at the bottom of the letter. Your signature is required as a means of request authenticity. Do not forget to include a telephone number where you may be reached during the day. This should help you to obtain the certificate you need. I will further advise that I was told that this can take some time (but not outrageous), to process but do not get discouraged. It is important to always have your birth certificate handy yet tucked away in a safe place. However, since employers require the necessary I.D.'s to conform with the Federal I-9 forms upon hire, please check with your employer to see if there are other forms that they will accept (there are others allowed) so as your first day of employment will not be held up due to the time needed to obtain the certificate you are applying for. Good luck and I hope that this helps.

Special Note to H.J. - Fox Lake: Thank you for your letter. It was forwarded to me and much appreciated.

Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee.
Letters can be sent to Nancy at 4949 Grand Ave., Gurnee, IL 60031.

PET OF THE WEEK

"PEG"

"PEG" is a beautiful, female, mostly pointer mix with a satiny soft, shiny milk chocolate colored coat and a white blaze on her chest. A smaller mid-size, Peg is just two years old and in good health. Peg came to us in November of 1994 with an old leg injury that resisted treatment. The leg was surgically removed, freeing Peg from the pain and inconvenience of a useless limb. Peg now runs, walks, plays and interacts effortlessly. Peg has a SWEET DISPOSITION and has a CALM, ATTENTIVE, VERY AFFECTIONATE and WELL-BEHAVED. She is an outstanding companion and will be a loyal and loving friend. We hope that someone special will see past Peg's missing leg, and discover that Peg possesses all of the attributes that make her an irresistibly wonderful girl. Peg has nothing but love to give, and she deserves a home and a family that can return that love. Peg's been waiting almost two years-- has she been waiting for you? Cage 85. All dogs benefit from basic housebreaking and obedience training which helps bond dog to owner. Crating is recommended when the owner is away for the first year if needed. Cash $55 donation includes free spay/neuter, collar, tag, leash, first shots, follow-up care and much more. Orphans of the Storm is located at 2200 Riverwoods Rd., Deerfield. Hours are 11am-5pm, seven days a week. Call (847) 945-9455 for further information.

SENSATIONAL

A large country kitchen is at the heart of the handsome 2125 square foot Sensational. The abundance of features here will assure your success when entertaining guests or preparing savory meals for the family. The center island has a recessed tray ceiling and tile countertops help make cleaning up a lot easier. Other kitchen bonuses include a five-shelf walk-in pantry and a built-in bar with sink and wine rack. French doors open from the kitchen into a skylit screened porch. A built-in planter box and adjacent trellis will put your green thumb to good use. The back deck offers a great spot to put the barbecue and soak up some sunshine.

The tiled entry, monitored for your safety by a home security system, has a roomy guest closet and opens to the vaulted living room on the left. A big bay window looks beyond the railing of the wrap-around front porch to the surrounding landscape. The adjoining dining room boasts a hardwood floor, built-in hutch and plate racks for displaying your fine china. What an elegant atmosphere in which to dine.

To the right of the entry is a modest office. Whether you run a small business from home or just maintaining the household accounts, this room will serve you well. The two secondary bedrooms are located at the left rear of the Sensational. Nearly equal in size, they share a full bathroom equipped with twin basins. On the opposite side of the home, the isolated master suite has all the amenities you would expect in a much larger design. The private bathroom features a twin vanity, skylit shower, oversized tub, linen storage and a double-sided gas fireplace. A generous walk-in closet has a secret panel that conceals a repository for your valuables.

A sizeable utility room, brightened by a skylight and complete with sink, built-in ironing board and freezer, is located by the access to the two-car garage. An L-shaped workbench provides an excellent spot for tackling those weekend fix-it projects.

For a study kit of the Sensational (335-042), send $10.00, to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307-LP60, Eugene, OR 97402 (Be sure to specify plan name & number) For a collection of plan books featuring our most popular home plans, send $20 to Landmark, or call 1-800-562-1151.

Artist uses creative talent in cottage industry

SUZIE REED

Staff Reporter

When Judy Perlow took art in school as a youngster, she thought she was terrible. Happily, as an adult, she gave art another chance and turned her hidden talent into a profitable business that she enjoyed.

She began taking classes from the recreation department in Buffalo Grove, first oil painting, then water color, learning a lot of good techniques.

"I found out I loved it," she recalled.

At the time, she and her husband ran a printing business in Deerfield. Many of their creations were invitations with calligraphy. Although she had a list of calligraphers who did the wording, Perlow finally decided it was time she learned the craft. Making her way to class with the help of a cane, she found her broken leg to be somewhat of a blessing.

"I practiced all day," she said. "I got good really fast!"

Watercolor Design was created after the Perlows closed their printing business, and Judy began to sell her creations from her Vernon Hills home. She admits she looked for an office job but her heart wasn't in it. A conversation with a vocational counselor convinced her she didn't want to sit in an office.

Her kitchen table serves as her painting studio; a card table fits nicely in front of the fireplace when there is calligraphy to be done. Her home is a living display of her talent; pleasing watercolor paintings adorn the walls and painted silk throw pil-

Many of her customers from the North Shore have made a point to seek her out for their bar mitzvah, wedding and party invitations, as well as baby announcements, Christmas notes and gift enclosures. Perlow puts together a complete coordinated package for these events, including maps and response cards. She has created a envelope design that includes a pocket for the extra pieces; layers of colorful paper can be coordinated into a personalized design or the colors can be brought out with sponge painting. Her bar mitzvah and bat mitzvah packages are often coordinated around a "Trees for Israel" certificate, picking up different colors in the document.

Her note cards, packaged in gift bags, are in great demand. Gift enclosures and baby announcements are also available. She loves the challenge of custom design and encourages her clients to let her put their personal touches on her creations. Various color combinations and assorted designs can be used for so many different looks, she said.

"The more I do, the more I learn," she said. "You have to work along with the customers. I love working with people."

Her favorite creations, she said, are the baby announcements. Even her business cards include a colorful watercolor design and a sample of her talents in calligraphy. For more information on Watercolor Design and Calligraphy, call 549-1286.

Family mortgage helps in purchase of home

The Advantage Family Mortgage is now available exclusively at Advantage Bank. Families can now realize their dream of owning their own home sooner without a down payment. If a parent, grandparent or other relative has a certificate of deposit or is willing to invest in one, it can be used instead of a down payment.

How does the Family Mortgage work? It's easy. A family member opens a certificate of deposit at Advantage Bank. This CD remains in the name of the depositor and the loan is in the name of the homeowner. The family member can select a CD for any term, earn a great rate, and receive an interest check every month. The CD remains at Advantage Bank as security for the mortgage until the equity in the house equals the amount of the CD. The Advantage Family Mortgage allows the homebuyer to purchase a home with a mortgage equal to the purchase price.

"This is an exciting program for us," said Bob Muth, Advantage's senior vice president of mortgage lending. "It is a great way for parents, grandparents and other relatives to assist their family members without any out-of-pocket expense." Muth pointed out that there are many people in the market today who can afford the monthly payment but do not have the required down payment. The homebuyer can buy anywhere in Wisconsin or Illinois. The CD holder can live anywhere.

"If the CD value equals 20 percent of the purchase price, we will not require private mortgage insurance on the loan; this will reduce the buyer's payment," Muth said. "Or, if the borrower has a 5 percent down payment, a relative can put the remaining 15 percent into a CD to avoid the PMI requirement."

Advantage Bank has been serving families in southeastern Wisconsin and northeastern Illinois for more than 90 years. "This is another way for us to serve the communities in which we do business and to make the American dream of owning a home available to more people," Muth concluded.

Pets

The pet care service Rasmussen offers is viewed much like what people would look for in baby-sitters for their children.

"We try to keep our sitters within 5 miles of their home," she explained. "We try to keep them local, kind of like a neighbor who lives nearby and whom you feel you can trust."

Patty and Edward Mabey of Fox Lake, a husband and wife team, handle much of northwestern Lake County. Edward Mabey's family raised and trained German Shepherds in Towaco, Pa., before they moved to Lake County. Patty Mabey formerly was director of a child care facility.

Cheryl Hupp, a veterinary assistant at a animal hospital in Schaumburg, handles much of the southern part of Lake County and even into northern Cook County.

When a new client calls for the service, an in-home interview is scheduled to give the sitter the opportunity to become familiar with the home. It also allows the pet(s) to get acquainted with the sitter. During the interview, the sitter goes over everything from where food is kept, what times the pet is used to going out or being fed, to when newspapers and mail is delivered.

"We offer in-home pet care on just about any type of animal," she said. "We try, as much as possible, to gauge what we do with your pet to your normal routine."

Besides taking care of pets, the sitter also acts as a quasi-security guard. Checking door locks, watering plants, opening and closing blinds, taking out garbage, turning lights on and off, bringing in newspapers, packages or mail, are all included in the regular sitting fee.

"We make the house look occupied," Rasmussen said, noting they will even turn televisions or radios on and off. "This is especially important when people are on vacation."

Although a majority of the pets are the typical dogs and cats, Rasmussen sits for horses, snakes, a few hamsters, occasional fish and even small kennels.

There has been only one animal so far which Rasmussen has refused to take on. "We had a lady who called and said she had a small Vietnamese pig," she recalled. "It was a 300-pound pig with very sharp teeth. That's the only animal we've ever refused."

"As a child, I was never allowed to have pets," she related. "In junior high, I started bringing home pets, everything from stray cats or dogs to frogs and even a snake."

Now, routinely, Rasmussen sits for an average of 10 to 15 animals per day including daily clients and others who are out of town.

The daily vacation rate is $18 which includes two visits for one dog. Additional animals are $3 per dog and $2 per cat. For daily clients, who use the service an average of five to six days per week, one walk is $8 for one pet and $2 for each additional pet.

Office hours are 8 a.m. until 7 p.m. Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. on Saturday. Phone 1-800-1AM-PETS or 847-356-LOVE.

Travel

The "average" fee for a trip to the airport is $25, if the owners handle all of their own arrangements and paperwork.

Worthing is able to handle everything for the client, including filling out the appropriate paperwork and scheduling the animal for travel. "I've even had some dogs who have flown overseas and into Canada," she noted.

"I have the forms which I can fill out for them including everything from when the animal will leave, who it is going to and when it will arrive," Worthing explained. The owner must obtain the health certification.

A routine local trip to a veterinarian's office runs between $10 and $15, depending upon the distance and how much time the person wants Worthing to spend with the animal at the vet's office. She is able to handle emergency runs on occasion. In addition to the taxi service, Worthing offers grooming, specializing in terriers.

Working out of her home at 1854 McAree Road in Waukegan, Worthing tries to limit her schedule to making afternoon runs as she works part-time mornings for a kennel. For more information or to schedule a taxi, contact Worthing at 847-336-8908.

Lake Geneva, summer playground beckons north, south city dwellers

Maintaining a wealthy heritage, with a rural-resort atmosphere that is both rural and urban is done with class in Lake Geneva, Wis. which was founded in 1836.

The downtown shopping area, filled with a wide variety of upper-class shops, has kept its uncommercial like charm despite the sidewalk filled crowds.

Lake Geneva, which has always catered to city dwellers from Chicago and Milwaukee, also draws crowds from Lake County, Ill. as well as Kenosha and Walworth counties.

There are attractive resorts beckoning from the Lake Geneva area: the Abbey on Lake Geneva, Geneva National, off of Hwy. 50 just outside of Lake Geneva, Interlaken Resort, on Hwy. 50, just west of Lake Geneva, and the well-known Lake Lawn Lodge, in Delavan, just west of Lake Geneva.

Outdoor activities abound whether its boating and swimming on the area lakes, horseback riding and hayrides, romantic horse-drawn-carriage rides, golfing on one of many 18-hole golf courses, tennis hiking, biking and camping.

The Lauderdale Aqua Skiers, a non-profit water-ski show team performs at Don Jean Bay, Lauderdale Lakes, north of Elkhorn, at 6 p.m. every Saturday during the summer.

Family fun with miniature golfing, go-carts, batting cages, basketball and volleyball, are all available at places like Uncle John's Fun Park.

Popeye's across from the beach, to Houlihan's in the new Harbor Cove, to fine dining at the resorts or the San Moritz, also right downtown.

Special places that draw the nitelife crowds to Lake Geneva include the Sugar Shack, with male and female dancers, or Hogs and Kisses, where one can dance the night away, located downtown.

Cruising past the elegant large homes of the rich, who live right on Lake Geneva, has been one of the area's favorite things to do. Besides daily boat tours on the Geneva Lake Cruise Line, on either of the paddle-boats, the Lady of the Lake or the Belle of the Lake, private charters, evening dinner cruises, or the Dixieland Cruises, featuring a Dixieland band along with a prime rib dinner, are available by calling 1-800-558-5911 for cruise information.

Yet to come during the remainder of July and August are many events including the 147th Walworth County Fair, long known as one of the best county fairs in the state of Wisconsin. The fair will be held at the Walworth County Fair Grounds starting on the Labor Day weekend.

On July 31, experience "First Night" at the Evergreen Theater at the Grand Geneva Resort; the Lake Geneva Fine Arts Show, at Liberty Park on Aug. 10-11; lakefront Venetian Festival, Aug. 14-18, Aug. 23-25 are Maxwell St. Days in Lake Geneva, and starting on Aug. 31, the Longhorn Ranch IPRA Rodeo comes to Lake Geneva. Call the Lake Geneva Chamber of Commerce, 1-800-345-1020, for more information.

GO FISHING IN LAKE JULIAN

Goin' fishin' has been the favorite pastime of millions for many years. Two of the best fishin' holes in the area can be found in Carey, Ill. at the Lake Julian Trout Farm, located on Hwy. 14.

Owner of the 40-acre trout farm, Dorothy Miller, runs the fishing and recreation area just as her father and mother, Julian and Cora Dvorak, did.

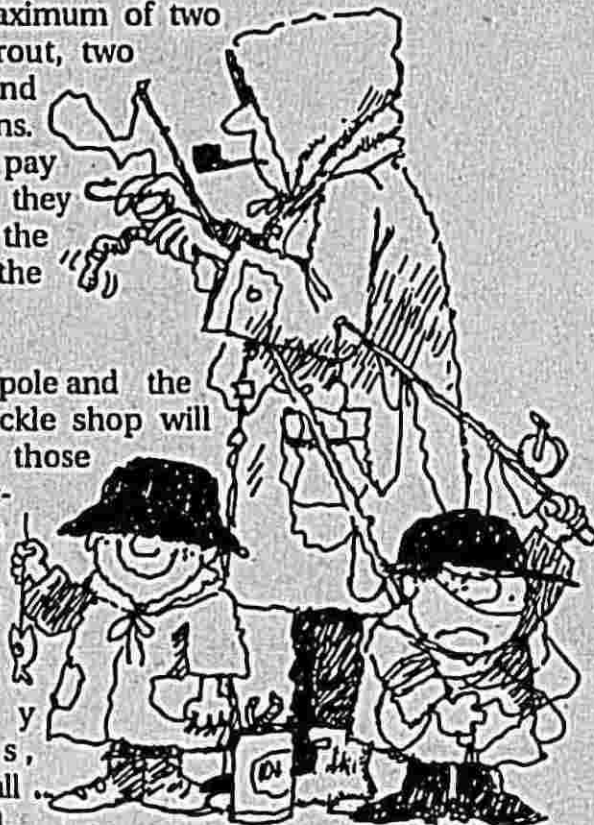

The farm has actually been in the family since the 1890s when her grandfather discovered the springs that are the base of the trout farm. The farm was opened to the public in 1953.

Those trying to catch "the big one" can fish in Lake Julian for a flat fee of $5 per person, per day. Fishing hours on Saturday and Sunday run from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m., Wednesday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.. The area is closed on Monday and Tuesday except for Mondays of holiday weekends.

In Lake Julian, named after Miller's dad, fishermen can catch a maximum of two bass, two trout, two walleyes and two northerns. Fishermen pay for the fish they catch from the pond by the pound.

Bring your fishin' pole and the bait and tackle shop will supply those needs. A picnic shelter is available.

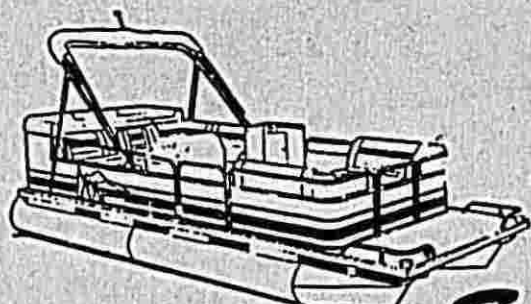

To reserve for big events like family reunions, group picnics, etc., call Miller at (847)639-3734.

Boat Loans

Right
This Way

If you're shopping for a boat loan, cruise on in to The First National Bank of McHenry. When you visit, we'll take the time to get to know you. That way we can suggest the loan that's right for you. You may wish to lock in today's rate and a fixed monthly payment. Or you can choose a home equity line of credit. It's a "reusable" loan that might provide certain tax advantages. Ask your tax advisor. Set up your line of credit before you shop and you may have more bargaining power. Whatever your choice, our crew of experienced loan experts can make the process smooth sailing. It's easy to apply, and you can usually have an answer within a few days. The right loan, at the right time, right now. It's right this way at The First National Bank of McHenry.

What's in a name?

Live Wire

Pete Grimaldi named his boat the "Live Wire" because he is an electrician. It took a while to pick out the name but he thinks it fits the boat perfectly.

The Sirrah or The Predator wanna be

Robert Reyes bought the boat used, so the name came along with it. In fact, the boat will be called the Predator as soon as he can repaint the side. The Predator comes from the name of his wrestling club out of Fox Lake. Robert's son came along for a quiet evening working on the boat.

Gary Millem named the boat Ski Nautique because that's what it already says on the side. This 1984 Ski Nautique has just had its engine re-built, so it can pull its skiers barefoot. Bob Cellucci and Gary Millen are off to the boat races at Blarney Island on a beautiful summer evening.

The Dana

Tom Damien named his boat the "Dana" because of the two great loves in his life. His girlfriend, Dana, and his boat. They're both a ton of fun.

No Name For Now

Joe Kedjorski hasn't picked out a name for his new boat...he's much too busy having fun on the lake to think of details like naming his boat!

Trail riding is lots of fun

There was a time when the horse was a main mode of transportation, in the Far East, Europe and the New World of America.

Bowing to the machine age, the only time horses are ridden in the 1990s is in show competition, rodeos, or just for the fun of riding.

At Happy Trails, located at 26011 N. Rand Rd., one block west of Old McHenry Rd. on Rte. 12, in Wauconda, there are miles of scenic trails that run through the Lakewood Forest Preserve, waiting for today's animal lover or would be cowboy.

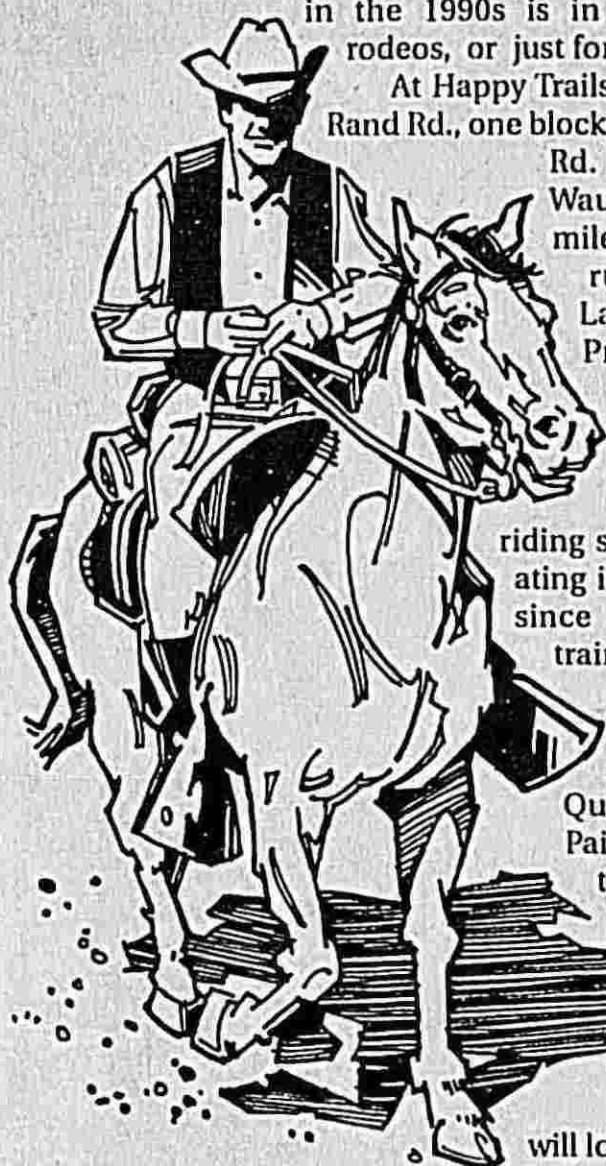

The commercial riding stable has been operating in the Wauconda area since 1992. Fifty well-trained, gentle, well-tempered, riding horses, ranging from Appaloosas, to Quarter Horses, to Paints, can be rented by the hour and ridden through the trails alone or with a guide. Children

Happy Trails has just started featuring breakfast and dinner rides. The breakfast rides start at 7:30 a.m., two Sundays a month, with breakfast served back at the stables after a leisurely early morning ride. The dinner rides are schedule for two Friday evenings a month, with the ride from 6 to 7 p.m. and a catered dinner served afterwards back at the stables.

Happy Trails also offers riding instructions given by accredited instructors. For more information, call (847) 526-0055.

For a while this summer, time travel will be possible for those with a little imagination and a desire for out-of-the-ordinary entertainment.

Talented artists and craftsmen have once again carved a piece of Elizabethan England out of a niche in southern guaranteed during a "Cliff Hanger" at the Globe Stage.

A visit to the dungeon is not for the faint of heart, offering a gruesome look at an assortment of torture devices. Don't plan on this one around lunchtime!

Kids' Kingdom will provide the younger set with time-tested

Find Excellent Adventures

Wisconsin. Return with them now to those exciting days of yesteryear (with the welcome addition of modern plumbing and health standards), ... when knights were bold and there really wasn't much on cable...

The Bristol Renaissance Faire invites time travelers to a bigger and better adventure each weekend. A variety of entertainment, food and shopping awaits visitors of all ages.

"That's what people are looking for," said Janette Campion, promotions specialist for the Bristol Renaissance Faire.

Popular entertainers include the Heroes and Villains who meet on Wyckham Field of Joust three times a day, kicking up dust in an exciting contest. The Sturdy Beggars provide some [literally] dirty fun in the mud pit and the Falconry Academy brings a new look to "pet tricks."

"It's an audience participation type of show," Campion explained. "They have the birds swoop over their heads."

Dirk and Guido: The Swordsman offer "Lessons in Gentlemanly Behavior" and "Thrust for Glory" five times each day.

"If you want a laugh from start to end, that's a definite must-see," said Campion of the swashbucklers. More laughs are games and amusements, while musicians, performers and storytellers will entertain lords and ladies of all ages. Mimes and jugglers will compete for attention with instrumentalists and balladeers. "Folke" music wafts through the air at many locations throughout the fairgrounds as talented performers offer a melodic peek into the past.

Unique shopping opportunities abound at the Renaissance Faire. Craftsmen offer one-of-kind collectibles, often producing the items on the spot. Pottery, clothing, glassware, jewelry and toys are among the thousands of creations offered by more than 165 merchants. For something truly out of the ordinary, craftsmen at Wax Hands will create a lasting impression with about 15 layers of wax.

"The things we have there are very authentic," said Campion. "They're not something you find anywhere else."

Several booths offer period clothing and accessories (It's difficult to find just the right gargoyle.) and shoppers can find anything from armor to "lithomancy" by Zenobia. The modern age is also represented with an assortment of popular crafts.

Visitors can keep up their strength with all manner of culinary delights, from traditional roasted turkey legs to "Steak on a Stake," Portabella mushroom sandwiches, and handmade fresh fruit crepes. Medieval taste treats cover the continent of Europe with Italian ravioli, German bratwurst and kraut, English pasties and Greek salads. The feasts can be washed down with a selection of soft drinks, juices, beers, wines or ales.

Lords and ladies are invited to take a step back in time (quite a few, actually—it's a long way to the 16th century) to the state line for an historic adventure in the land of magical medieval make-believe. Those making the carriage ride from the south should steer for I-94 and follow Exit 1 at Russell Rd. Travelers from northbound I-94 should exit at Highway Q and proceed along the frontage road for about 2 miles. Signs will direct drivers to the gateway.

The Renaissance Faire will be open from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. each Saturday and Sunday through August 25. Admission for adults is $14.95 and $6.50 for children 5 to 12. Those under 5 may visit free. The price for seniors and students is $13.95. A season pass is available for $65. For group sales or information call 1-800-52-FAIRE.
